37 MORE EXECUTED IN SOVIET FAR EAST

Continuation of Campaign Against Wreckers Reported From Khabarovsk—131 Persons in All Killed in That Region.

RUSSIAN AIR CHIEF IS REPORTED HELD

Gen. J. I. Alksnis Not at Reception for Dr. Schmidt—Noted Pilot, Sigismund Levanevsky, Also Missing from the Scene.

MOSCOW, June 28.—The execution of 37 more persons for sabotage in the Soviet Far East was announced today from Khabarovsk, bringing to 131 the number of persons executed in that area.

The condemned men were said to be Trotskyists, Japanese spies and "diversionists." They were convicted on charges of wrecking Soviet Far-East Railway operations. All were executed immediately after the trial, according to the June 20 issue of the Khabarovsk newspaper Pacific Star, which reached Moscow today.

Other Arrests Reported.

The unexplained absence of Gen. J. I. Alksnis, chief of the Soviet air force and Vice-Commissar of Defense, from an official welcoming party at which he ordinarily would have been present led to reports he had been arrested.

Also missing from the reception Friday for Dr. Otto Schmidt, on his return after establishing a North Pole air base, was Sigismund Levanevsky, Arctic flyer, who became well known in the United States when he flew James Mattern from Siberia to Nome, Alaska. Mattern was forced down in Siberia on his flight around the world in 1933.

The absence of the two caused foreign observers to believe the current wave of arrests in the army and in other high Soviet circles was continuing.

Official quarters, however, discounted the reports, but declined to say where Levanevsky had been since his last known flight three weeks ago. It was considered possible he might be engaged in secret preparations for a second Soviet trans-polar flight to the United States.

Third Seizure Rumored.

Alexander Arosev, president of Vok-s—the Society for Cultural Relations With Foreign Countries—is another whose arrest is currently rumored.

Alksnis served in the Defense Commissariat with the late War Marshal Michail Tukachevsky and had been reported in difficulty with the authorities since a temporary flight, however, when he was drafted to sit on the court which condemned the War Marshal and several other Soviet war lords to die for treasonable conspiracy with a foreign country.

In his ordinary course of duties as head of the air force, Gen. Alksnis would have been present at the reception for Schmidt, as would have Levanevsky because of his prominence as an airman.

PRIME MINISTER JOINS UNION AS AN HONORARY SHOEMAKER

Chamberlain Follows Family Tradition Embracing Guild of His Forebears.

LONDON, June 28.—Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain became a cordwainer, or shoemaker, of the City of London today and said he was glad that he came of "respectable tradesmen."

Following a 200-year-old family tradition, the Prime Minister was inducted into the medieval guild that now is the patron order of the leather industry, its schools and charities.

"I cannot boast of the blueness of the blood in my veins," Chamberlain said as he took the office of Honorary Freeman and Liveryman. "But I am prouder of being descended from respectable tradesmen, as they were called, than if my ancestors had worn shining armor and carried great swords."

Since a Chamberlain in the leather and boot business joined the guild in 1739, every generation of the family has been represented.

ROOSEVELT AT WHITE HOUSE AFTER OVERNIGHT CRUISE

Will Attend Son's Wedding and Then Spend Fourth at Hyde Park, N. Y.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—President Roosevelt returned to the White House today after an overnight cruise from Jefferson Island in Chesapeake Bay where he conferred with congressional Democrats and Cabinet members over the week-end.

The President will remain here only two and a half days before leaving with members of his family for the wedding of his son, Franklin, to Miss Ethel du Pont at Greenville, Del.

From there the President will go to his mother's estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., to remain over the Fourth of July.

House, the President arranged a morning calling list. He kept the afternoon open to work on accumulated mail. White House officials said he probably would send to the Senate and House Agriculture Committee chairmen tomorrow a letter urging action at this session on the ever normal granary farm bill.

HUNDREDS RETURN TO STEEL MILLS AT JOHNSTOWN

Non-Strikers Unmolested for Most Part as They Go Back to Jobs Under State Police Guard.

PICKETS BOO AND JEER EMPLOYEES

Troopers Escort Six Workers to Safety When They Are Threatened by Crowd in Leaving Plant.

By the Associated Press.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 28.—Hundreds of workers returned to their jobs today at the Cambria plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, where a strike of the steel workers' union has been in progress for 17 days.

Most of the non-strikers were unmolested but a crowd jeered and booed workers of the night shift leaving the plant at the Upper Franklin gate.

State police escorted to safety six Negro workers menaced by the crowd. A brick was thrown through the window of a street car which two of the Negroes boarded.

Quiet at Other Gates.

Quiet prevailed at other principal gates of the mills, which are scattered for more than seven miles along the Conemaugh River.

F. E. Howells, superintendent at the company's lower gate in Franklin Borough, the principal entrance, said 900 men rode to work this morning in trolley cars.

"About an equal number arrived in automobiles," he said. He said the number of men reporting today was "just about normal."

Capt. William A. Clark, in charge of State police assigned to strike duty, said the total number of pickets at all entrances was about 250.

There was no immediate official estimate from the corporation on the total number of workers who returned to their jobs. A company spokesman said every department "is in substantial operation."

Most of the pickets had assembled at the Lower Franklin gate. One woman spat in the face of a non-striker. Police reprimanded and then released her.

Burgess Michael Seward of Franklin Borough, said he received reports that two non-strikers had been beaten after returning to their homes from the plant.

Plant Re-opened Saturday.

The plant re-opened Saturday after Gov. George H. Earle removed military restrictions during which only a maintenance crew was allowed in the mills. It was estimated that between 4000 and 5000 men went into the plant Saturday.

MAYOR WILL SIGN TAX BILLS UNLESS DELINQUENTS PAY

Announces He Will Wait and See Whether $7,000,000 Is Raised in Collection Campaign.

HAS 20 DAYS IN WHICH TO USE VETO

$1,131,000 Received So Far in Back Levies—Central Trades Opposed to Revenue Program.

By the Associated Press.

MAYOR DICKMANN announced today that he would sign the four special tax bills passed by the Board of Aldermen last Friday, unless $7,000,000 in delinquent real estate and personal property taxes are collected by the end of the 20-day period in which he might exercise the veto power.

The amount collected to date since June 10, when the State law remitting penalties became effective, was $1,131,912, leaving $5,868,088 to be collected in the next 18 days. The period during which full remission of penalties is made ends Wednesday. The city receives about half the collections, the rest being for the State and schools.

"Unless these tax collections are made," the Mayor said, "I think I should sign the bills to keep faith with the Board of Aldermen."

The bill levies a tax of 1 cent a package on cigarettes, increases the city gasoline tax from 1 cent to 1½ cents a gallon, tax admissibility tickets for amusements and place a 2 per cent tax of gross advertising receipts of newspapers.

Added revenue is required to balance the city's current budget, provide $1,000,000 for relief needs and wipe out the record deficit of $2,017,590 in last year's budget.

Mason Calls Taxes "Oppressive."

President William L. Mason of the Board of Aldermen called the taxes "oppressive" and "a gross injustice" in a statement today setting forth his position as members of the board. He declared the Aldermen voted for the bills because both Comptroller Nolte and Mayor Dickmann asserted they would be necessary unless delinquent tax payments provided needed revenue.

Mason added that if tax collections warranted the board at its next meeting, July 8, might reconsider its vote in passing the bills at its last meeting.

"Of course," he said, "the only thing that will enable the city to dispense with these taxes is for a large percentage of those who are now delinquent in payment of real estate and personal taxes to come in and pay these taxes."

"This would enable us to avoid a gross injustice to persons who will be subject to these new taxes and who would not be burdened but for the delinquency of their fellow citizens."

Central Trades Opposition.

Opposition to the four bills was expressed yesterday by the Central Trades and Labor Union in a resolution urging veto of the bills. The resolution was adopted by a virtually unanimous vote at the organization's regular meeting at 1411 North Grand boulevard.

William J. Gibbons, president of Typographical Union No. 8, introduced the resolution and in support of it declared that if the proposed 2 per cent tax on gross advertising receipts of newspapers and other publications went into effect, many magazine publishers would move their business from St. Louis.

SCULPTOR HELD WITHOUT BAIL IN THREE KILLINGS

Robert Irwin, Taken to New York From Chicago, Hires Samuel Leibowitz to Defend Him.

ARRAIGNMENT SET FOR WEDNESDAY

Strangler of Model Sure He Will Escape Execution Because He Has Been in "Nut House."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Robert Irwin, sculptor and former divinity student, was held without bail today in two brief court appearances and hired a lawyer to defend him on murder charges in the killing of Veronica Gedeon, artist's model, and two other persons, on Easter Sunday.

The lawyer, Samuel Leibowitz, announced Irwin had retained him as counsel and immediately won a postponement of arraignment until Wednesday.

Irwin, held for strangling Miss Gedeon and her mother and killing a roomer in their home with an ice pick, was before Magistrate Brough in Homicide Court barely a minute.

A short while before, he had appeared in police lineup, outwardly calm—again for only a minute.

Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine and District Attorney William C. Dodge announced they would ask the grand jury for three indictments for murder.

A defendant must be adjudged sane to be convicted of murder in the first degree, for which the penalty is death in the electric chair. Irwin is a former inmate of an insane asylum.

Arrest in Chicago.

Irwin, 29 years old, was arrested in Chicago Saturday night, 12 hours after he had surrendered in the offices of the Herald and Examiner, Chicago newspaper. He was brought here by airplane last night in custody of New York detectives after waiving extradition.

The grand jury, Valentine and Dodge said in a joint statement, will be given a detailed statement which Irwin dictated to the Herald and Examiner, confessing all three murders, as well as additional statements made to Chicago and New York police.

All three killings were "accidental," Irwin is quoted as saying in the Chicago statement. He declared he went to the Gedeon apartment intending to murder Miss Gedeon's sister, Mrs. Ethel Kudner, and no one else.

Irwin confidently predicted he would be saved from the electric chair because he had spent several years in what he called "the nut house."

The confession made to the Chicago newspaper apparently was accepted by the New York police, for Valentine and Dodge said:

"He (Irwin) further stated that the statement which he made to the newspaper in Chicago was revised and corrected by him, and signed by him, and that that statement was a correct statement."

Sculptor Who Confessed Killing Three

APPEARED calm and unworried after he surrendered and confessed in Chicago. He was taken to New York to face murder charges in the death of Veronica Gedeon, artist's model, her mother and a lodger.

Succumbs From Streptococcal Infection at Hospital; 67 Years Old.

Referree in Bankruptcy John A. Hope died today at St. Luke's Hospital of a streptococcal infection of the bloodstream, following an illness of three months. He was 67 years old.

He was taken to the hospital April 10 and was discharged several weeks later, returning to his office May 10. Ten days later, however, he was forced to return home. He was taken to the hospital last Saturday and received a blood transfusion yesterday. He resided at 5711 Chamberlain avenue.

In 1906, he came to St. Louis. He had a general law practice, appearing as attorney in a number of bankruptcy suits, before his appointment to succeed the late Walter D. Coles, who resigned to accept appointment as a Judge of the Missouri Supreme Court. During the administration of Gov. Folk, Mr. Hope served on the board of managers of the Farmington State Hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Susan B. Hope; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Hope Briggs and Miss Ethel Hope; and a son, Brandon Hope, his law partner. The body will be taken to Jackson for burial.

TWO ALIENISTS SAY WOMAN WHO SHOT COUNT IS SANE

Writer Who Blamed Ex-Envoy for Loss of Mussolini's Friendship Faces New Charge.

PARIS, June 28.—Two alienists decided today that Mme. Madeline la Ferriere, newspaper woman who shot Count Charles de Chambrun because she believed he broke up her friendship with Italian Premier Benito Mussolini, was "responsible for her acts."

A third member of a commission appointed by Magistrate Girard made reservations on Mme. La Ferriere's sanity.

A new charge, failure to inform police that she possessed firearms, was filed against her. Police discovered two pistols in her apartment besides the one with which she shot de Chambrun, former French Ambassador to Italy, in a railroad station March 17.

He recovered.

SENATE ACCEPTS RELIEF MEASURE

House Approval Will Complete Congressional Action on $1,500,000,000 Bill.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Senate accepted today a conference agreement on the administration's $1,500,000,000 relief bill.

The House approval will complete congressional action. By eliminating an item for unspecified "miscellaneous projects," the conferees cut the P W A funds from $387,000,000 to $359,000,000.

Few other important changes were made in the bill. Congressional leaders said they expected to place the measure before both houses for final approval today.

The Conference Committee eliminated a provision which would have required the Works Progress Administration to make public the names, positions and salaries of all administrative officers. This provision had been written into the bill at the request of Senator Davis (Rep.), Pennsylvania, who contended it would stop use of W P A jobs of "political purposes."

The National Resources Committee, a planning board which has accreted largely with relief funds, was exempted from a clause which limits administrative costs of all agencies using relief money to 5 per cent. Several other agencies were exempted in the original bill.

BANKHEAD ACT REFUNDS OF $3,500,000 ORDERED

U. S. Court of Appeals Says Cotton Farmers Were Coerced to Buy Certificates.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The United States Court of Appeals held today that 100,000 cotton producers were entitled to more than $3,500,000 in refunds for cotton tax exemption certificates they bought under the repealed Bankhead Act. The Court said the cotton farmers were coerced to buy the certificates under threat of a confiscatory tax. The Bankhead Act was repealed after the Supreme Court invalidated its basic principles in holding the Agricultural Adjustment Act unconstitutional.

The Court of Appeals ruled on suits brought by two Alabama and two Mississippi cotton planters against Ernest L. Deal, manager of the national surplus cotton tax exemption certificate pool. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, W. A. Julian, treasurer of the United States, and Comptroller Payne and Administrator Davis of the defunct A A A.

The road, in this interior city, was being constructed for motor travel.

INSURGENT SHIPS SHELL COAST NORTH OF VALENCIA

Sagunto and Castellon and Region Between Them Attacked—Bombardment Heard in Temporary Spanish Capital.

GERMAN VESSELS REPORTED SEEN

22 Missiles Are Fired But Little Damage Is Done

Assault Over, Craft Heads in Direction of Palma, Mallorca.

By the Associated Press.

VALENCIA, Spain, June 28.—The Spanish Government coast between Sagunto and Castellon was shelled from the sea today. One report, which was not confirmed, said German ships participated.

Sagunto is about 25 miles north of here. Castellon is 30 miles north of Sagunto.

The attack was intensive enough to be heard in this temporary seat of the Spanish Central Government. Some observers identified the insurgent cruiser Canarias as the sole attacker. Others said there were two or three ships firing.

Shore defense batteries were fired. A Government warship put to sea. Coast batteries shot flares to illuminate the hostile ship or ships close off shore.

Altogether 22 shells were counted but the damage was slight. At Sagunto, the main damage was done to the hull of a ship which was being demolished for junk.

Assault guards at Sagunto said two or three ships came within a mile of the shore with all lights and fired 14 shells at the port. They said the shells were Spanish-made. The ships then turned north, shelling as they went, and steered toward Palma, Mallorca, after they passed Castellon.

Heavy Rebel Casualties in Mine Explosion at Madrid.

MADRID, June 28.—Heavy insurgent casualties were reported today in the explosion of a Government mine in University City, on the northwest edge of Madrid. Government officers said the bodies of insurgent soldiers, including some Moors, were blown from trenches.

Defense troops set off the dynamite to wreck a nearly-completed insurgent mine before it could be exploded close to Government barricades.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco reinforced his insurgent siege lines around Madrid and the sector north of Guadalajara after insurgent advance squadrons made their reconnaissance flights over the central front.

New troops moved into the Casa de Campo sector, at the capital's western limit, and into the Jarama region to the southeast.

The main concentration appeared to have been made in the southeast region where the insurgent advance guard recently has shown greater activity than at any time during the last three months.

In view of the insurgent movement, the Madrid-Valencia Government strengthened its own lines, although military circles did not think a general attack would be launched against the long-besieged capital until insurgent operations in Northern Spain were cleaned up.

INLAND CO. DEFERS OPENING OF PLANT AT EAST CHICAGO

Steel Firm Notifies Indiana Governor It Will Postpone Attempt for 24 Hours.

TOWNSEND TO OFFER NEW PEACE PLAN

2500 Picket Mills After CIO Warns It Will Resist Move to Resume Operations.

By the Associated Press.
EAST CHICAGO, Ind., June 28.—Gov. M. Clifford Townsend said today at Indianapolis the Inland Steel Co. had informed him it would postpone for 24 hours its planned reopening of its East Chicago plant, originally scheduled for 8 a. m. tomorrow.

William Stokes, assistant to the president of Inland Steel, gave the assurance in a telephone conversation, the Governor said.

Thomas Hutson, State Labor Commissioner, said Townsend was still hopeful of an agreement by the Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube companies to keep their East Chicago plants closed pending further attempts to arrange a truce in the four-week-old labor strife.

Townsend said he would not accede to the request of Mayor Andrew Rooney of East Chicago for National Guard troops to maintain order when the mills reopen.

The Governor hopes to get the strikers to agree to go back to work pending the outcome of the National Labor Relations Board hearing on charges that the two steel companies have violated the Wagner Act in refusing to sign a collective bargaining contract.

About 2500 pickets marched before the gates of the Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube companies today.

The strike sympathizers were identifying arm bands and paraded in an orderly manner.

The Governor has held long conferences for the last three days with company officers, representatives of non-striking leaders of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee of the CIO and civil authorities.

Speakers at a CIO mass meeting held yesterday at Indiana Harbor and attended by about 1500 persons predicted resistance to attempts to reopen the steel plants.

Nicholas Pontecchivo, field director of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, said, "We are instructing our pickets to be peaceful. If there is any violence at these plants, the responsibility will rest squarely at the door of Mayor Rooney, his city administration and the steel companies."

The two companies employ about 19,000 men in branches at East Chicago and 3000 more in their plants at South Chicago, Ill.

SENATE POSTOFFICE COMMITTEE ENDS INQUIRY INTO STRIKES

Without Hearing Postmaster-General Farley.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Senate Postoffice Committee voted 12 to 1 today to end its investigation of the Western Union telegraph strike without further hearings or testimony by Postmaster-General Farley.

It rejected by a vote of 12 to 3 a plea by Senator Bridges (Rep., N. H.) that Farley be summoned for questioning about alleged interference with the mails by pickets.

The Postoffice Committee recommended that further study of the strike situation be left to the Senate Civil Liberties Committee which will begin an investigation Wednesday of the Memorial day clash between strikers and Chicago police.

The Postoffice Committee instructed Chairman McKellar (Dem., Tenn.) to report that a "sufficient investigation" of interference with the mails already has been made, and that the Senate should not authorize a special inquiry.

3 HARLAN EX-DEPUTIES SURRENDER, GIVE BOND

They Are Held for Action of Grand Jury on Murder of Wash. Irvin.

By the Associated Press.
HARLAN, Ky., June 28.—Lee Fleehor, George Lee and Henry Metcalf, former Harlan County deputy sheriffs, surrendered today on warrants charging them with the murder last Tuesday night of Wash. Irvin, 33 years old, also a former deputy.

After making $7000 bond each, the three were released to await action of the August grand jury. The warrants were issued Saturday.

Ordered arrested Saturday by County Judge Morris Saylor, the three were reported to be "out at lunch." They were still "at lunch" yesterday, but Chief Deputy Sheriff Lee Ward said they had sent word they would surrender today.

The warrants were issued at the request of Acting County Attorney George R. Pope at the conclusion of the examining trial of Allen Bowling and Perry Noe, former deputies, who are charged with murder in the Irvin killing. Judge Saylor ordered Bowling and Noe held to the August grand jury with bond.

N L R B HEARING ON CHARGES AGAINST INLAND STEEL CO.

Company Says Signed Contract With Workers Is Not Necessary or Required by Law.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 28.—The National Labor Relations Board began today a hearing to decide the sole issue in the steel strike—refusal of Inland, Republic, Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet and Tube companies to sign contracts with the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, CIO affiliate.

Technically the hearing was on a charge by the labor board, based on a union complaint, that the Inland Steel Corporation violated the Wagner Act in refusing to bargain collectively.

Leonard C. Bjork, Chicago regional director for the labor board, said, "The eyes of the nation will be on this case." Charles A. Wood, labor board examiner, was ordered here from Washington to conduct the hearing in the United States Courthouse.

In a statement filed June 18 the Inland Steel Co. said it did not "arbitrarily refuse" to enter into a signed agreement, but "a signed contract is neither necessary nor required by law."

'FRIENDS OF DOORN' DISSOLVED

Governor of Saxony Orders Organization Disbanded.

By the Associated Press.
DRESDEN, Germany, June 28.—The Governor of Saxony issued an order today dissolving an organization known as the Circle of Friends of Doorn House, on the ground it endangered the safety of the State.

Doorn House is the Netherlands residence of former Kaiser Wilhelm. In Berlin, a representative of the house of Hohenzollern said he had never heard of such an organization in Saxony.

Davey Keeps Militia on Guard At Reopened Ohio Steel Mills

Governor Says Troops Will Stay "as Long as Necessary"—Murray Charges They Are Acting "as Company Police."

By the Associated Press.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 28.—Half of Ohio's militia is maintaining order in the Mahoning Valley, center of the State's steel industry.

Gov. Martin L. Davey, in a statement last night, said he would keep the soldiers here "as long as necessary."

Committee for Industrial Organization leaders, who less than a week ago cheered the arrival of the troops because they were there under orders to prevent any back-to-work movement pending efforts of Federal mediators, turned back to their picket lines.

Major-General Gilson D. Light of the Ohio National Guard said today about 15,500 men were back at work in the plants in Youngstown, Normal employment in the mills is 20,000.

"The strike has not been broken in any way, shape or form. It hasn't been broken, and it can't be broken," Gus Hall, CIO organizer said. He said statements of steel companies reporting a large return to work by their men were exaggerated "about 60 per cent."

This is the general situation today: The Cambria works of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, second largest in the country, are in operation following the lifting of military restrictions at Johnstown, Pa., Saturday.

Plants of Republic Steel Corporation and the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co., idle nearly a month, again are operating.

Republic's plant at Monroe, Mich., is operating.

Davey Replies to CIO. Gov. Davey replied to charges of CIO leaders that by use of troops he was "depriving the strikers of their legal rights" and had "committed political suicide."

"Neither the State troops nor local officials," the Governor said, "have any authority to deprive strikers of their rights, that is, peaceful picketing and persuasion, freedom of speech, or peaceful assembly. We shall see that nothing of this kind happens."

There was the suggestion today that the CIO might call a strike at another steel corporation.

Clinton S. Golden, Pittsburgh regional director of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, the CIO affiliate which called the present strike, told E. T. Weir, chairman of the Weirton Steel Co., at Weirton, W. Va., that the union would "take such action as circumstances necessitate" to end alleged attacks on union employees in the Weirton mills.

"Members of your notorious hatchet gang and so-called security league," Golden told Weir, "have threatened, physically assaulted and driven from their employment in your mills... all of our union lodge officers."

Charge by Aid of Lewis. Philip Murray, second in command to John L. Lewis in the steel strike, was expected here today to confer with union leaders.

Murray, at Pittsburgh, charged that "Ohio National Guardsmen are being used as company police in an effort to break the steel strike."

He said there was a secret meeting in Youngstown yesterday between officers of Republic Steel and Gen. Light, "with the hope of having the Ohio National Guard sent into Cleveland to break the steel strike there. Republic had four plants in Cleveland which have been closed."

He disputed back-to-work figures issued by the guardsmen. "They accept company figures," he declared.

Republic steel mills in Cleveland remained closed, with plans for reopening awaiting decision by company officers. The Mayor has promised "adequate protection."

In Youngstown, the county grand jury convened today, and Prosecutor Ambrose said it would investigate the June 19 disorder, in which two persons were killed.

The strike committee at Warren, O., announced it was collecting evidence of coercion of employees by Republic Steel foremen, and that it would be presented to the National Labor Relations Board. The committee charges the company with responsibility for "bombings, shootings and intimidations in an attempt to hide the real issues of the strike."

MAINE SHOE STRIKERS RETURN, BUT FEW GET JOBS BACK

Some of Factories Closed, Others Operating With New Help at Auburn and Lewiston.

LEWISTON, Me., June 28.—Striking shoe workers went to the shoe factories of Auburn and Lewiston today after 14 weeks, to get their jobs back, but few, if any, found jobs. Some factories had closed; others had gone ahead with new help.

About 2000 persons assembled in Lewiston City Hall shortly after 6 a. m. to march in groups for the opening hour at shops where they were employed March 24 when the Committee for Industrial Organization ordered an organizing strike. Nearly the same number marched back again to the CIO kitchen and commissary.

Employers assured the workers they would place individuals as fast as production allowed.

ITALY, GERMANY VETO FRENCH AND BRITISH PATROL

Rome Spokesman Declares Two Governments Cannot Accept New Spanish Neutrality Plan.

By the Associated Press.
ROME, June 28.—Italy and Germany will not accept a complete French-British international neutrality patrol of Spain, an authoritative spokesman declared today.

The announcement came on the eve of a Non-Intervention Committee meeting to consider steps for closing the gap left in the patrol by the withdrawal of German and Italian warships.

Neither the Rome-Berlin Governments nor "Europe in all its sane and vital parts" could accept the French-British plan, declared Virginio Gayda, editor, who frequently mirrors Premier Mussolini's opinions.

"Nothing can be done" in Europe and "especially in the Mediterranean" without Italy and Germany, he wrote in a two-column editorial in the newspaper Giornale d'Italia.

A joint French-British patrol of Spanish waters without co-operation from other governments would be advantageous to the Spanish Central Government, Gayda said.

"The reasons, he said, are Britain's 'partisan attitude' against the Spanish insurgents and, particularly, France's alliance with Soviet Russia.

Withdrawal of Italian and German warships from the non-intervention patrol did not preclude their being maintained in Spanish waters, Gayda asserted.

Neither did withdrawal mean Rome and Berlin would abandon their "responsible function" in those seas, he added.

Hitler Says He Will Take Independent Action in Spain. WURZBURG, Germany, June 28.—Reichsfuehrer Hitler declared yesterday that Germany henceforth preferred independent action to protect itself from incidents off the Spanish coast.

The European Non-Intervention Committee, he told a party rally of 200,000 Nazis, demonstrated its ineffectiveness by failing to act against the cruelties of the Spanish Government submarine (Valencia denied the attack).

"Every cat can burn its paws once," he told the cheering audience. "Every man can make a mistake once. But only fools make it a second time."

"Neither I nor the German nation has any desire to enter upon such a danger a second time."

Germany last week withdrew its warships from the non-intervention patrol after the Leipzig incident, because Great Britain and France declined to support a naval demonstration off the Spanish coast as a warning to the Madrid-Valencia Government.

Hitler criticized both the committee and the foreign press. He said that after the pocket battleship Deutschland was attacked by two Spanish Government planes in May, with loss of 21 lives, and Germany replied with bombardment of Almeria there was condemnation for Germany.

"I am always willing to learn," Hitler said with sarcasm. "So after the Leipzig incident Germany appealed to the committee with the result that this body did not heed German demands."

This, he said, has proved clearly what Germany would face in the event of a more serious affair.

ROCHELLE, Ill., June 28.—Two organizers for the Committee for Industrial Organization were held in jail in $1000 bond today for a court hearing tomorrow on charges of unlawful assembly.

Also held were two employees of the Caron Spinning Mills, arrested on charges preferred by the union's attorney.

John M. Malone and L. R. Garber, both of Chicago, were arrested Saturday after calling a mass meeting in the public park of workers in the mills, whom they sought to enroll in their union.

Harold Johnson and Ramond Gole, mill workers, were arrested later on charges of assault and unlawful assembly preferred by Francis Heiser, attorney for the CIO. Heiser charged they started a disturbance at the meeting which resulted in the seizure of Malone and Garber.

Malone was arrested here June 9 when he made his first attempt to unionize the mill workers. He was ordered out of the city.

MRS. CORA P. MORRIS KILLED IN ACCIDENT

Clayton Woman Fatally Hurt When Auto Turns Over Near Lamar, Colo.

Mrs. Cora P. Morris, 612 East Polo drive, Clayton, a trustee of The Principia, was fatally injured yesterday morning when the automobile she was driving turned over on a highway 18 miles west of Lamar, Colo.

She was accompanied by Miss Mildred Turner, elementary school teacher at The Principia, and two students of the school, William Cook, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Cook, 5565 Barmer avenue, and Thomas Judd, also 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Heike, 228 Way avenue, Kirkwood. Miss Turner and the boys were uninjured.

The party of four was driving to California for a summer vacation. Corner George Powell of Bent County, Colorado, said Mrs. Morris lost control of the automobile while driving down grade on the gravel highway. The car left the road and turned over several times. Mrs. Morris died before aid could be summoned, of a head injury.

Mrs. Morris, who was about 65 years old, had served as a member of the school's board of trustees for about eight years. She was the widow of Calvin S. Morris, who died 10 years ago. She resided in Clayton with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Blackwell. A son, Howard P. Morris, 6923 Amberst avenue, University City, also survives.

Miss Turner, who resides at 5322 Chamberlain avenue, has been a teacher at the school for 15 years. The boys were graduated this month from the Upper School.

MAYO CLINIC TELLS HOW ICE TEST MAY SAVE SWIMMERS Report Reveals That Many Who Drown Are Hypersensitive to Cold.

By the Associated Press.
ROCHESTER, Minn., June 28.—Dr. Bayard C. Horton of the Mayo Clinic sounded a warning today to swimmers who are hypersensitive to cold.

It is such a condition, he said in a clinical report, that causes many drownings.

Here is Dr. Horton's advice to bathers: Place a cube of ice on the forearm for a minute. If three or four minutes after the ice has been removed, a swelling appears on the arm, the patient is hypersensitive to cold and should never plunge into cold water.

All because, Dr. Horton explained, swimming or other exposure to cold may result in fainting.

SENATE PASSES JUDICIAL BILL

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Senate passed and sent to the House today a bill to extend from four to 10 years the terms of United States District Judges for the Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth circuits, Alaska, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and Hawaii. The measure also provides for four-year terms for the District Attorney and Marshal in the Panama Canal Zone.

Trapped in Cabin. Mrs. Wilson, who three months ago, apparently was trapped in the cabin of the boat and burned to death. Her body was not recovered until firemen had extinguished the flames, which had almost consumed the entire boat.

The elder Mrs. Martin was pushed from the deck of the launch into the shallow river water by Preston Kampmeyer, 26-year-old chemist, who was repairing his sailboat on the other side of the gasline barge and rushed to the rescue of the four people. He later extinguished the burning hair of the younger Mrs. Martin and dragged her into the water. Kampmeyer suffered minor burns about the face and body.

Had Just Bought Boat. Martin, 27-year-old electrical engineer, had bought the boat, a 28-foot wooden launch, just two weeks ago for $225, and was starting out to take his first trip in it.

Mrs. Guy S. Martin, 47 years old, and the latter's husband, Dr. William Wilson, at 4026 Magnolia place, Mrs. Wilson was married last March. Three months before her husband was graduated from the St. Louis University Dental School. She attended Washington and Missouri universities. SECOND VICTIM OF EXPLOSION ON LAUNCH DIES

Mrs. Guy S. Martin Succumbs to Burns Suffered at North Shore Boat Harbor.

Mrs. Wayne K. Martin Given Second Blood Transfusion at City Hospital; Husband Injured.

ACCIDENT VERDICT RETURNED BY JURY

Mrs. Guy S. Martin, 47 years old, died at City Hospital yesterday of burns suffered Saturday in an explosion of a river launch at the North Shore Boat Harbor, 9400 Riverview drive, in which her daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Wilson, was also killed.

Mrs. Martin's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne K. Martin, who were also in the launch, are in a grave condition at City Hospital suffering from burns of the entire body. The younger Mrs. Martin was given a second blood transfusion yesterday.

The explosion and subsequent fire broke out in the boat immediately after Martin and the three women passengers had stopped at the steel gasoline barge at the harbor and filled up with gasoline. Martin told reporters at the hospital that he had just started the engine when flames broke out all over the boat at once, enveloping the occupants.

Verdict of Accident. A verdict of accident was returned by a Coroner's jury at the inquest today, but the jury did not fix the cause of the explosion. Two theories have been advanced. One is that gasoline fumes in the hatch, which are explosive when mixed with air, were ignited by a spark when Martin started the engine. The other is that fumes from a varnish remover which Martin had used on the inside of the boat, caught fire.

The only witness at the inquest was Harry J. Riemann, 5968 North Point boulevard, owner of the boat harbor. He said that he had opened the hatch on Martin's boat Saturday morning and noticed an odor of gasoline and varnish remover. He added that Martin had an auxiliary gasoline tank in the fore part of the launch which he thought was open.

Riemann said he had known Martin's launch for about seven years when it belonged to the previous owner. He said it was about 27 years old and powered with an old automobile motor.

Trapped in Cabin. Mrs. Wilson, who three months ago, apparently was trapped in the cabin of the boat and burned to death. Her body was not recovered until firemen had extinguished the flames, which had almost consumed the entire boat.

EVERETT COUNT

PRESIDENT TO RESIGN AT LINCOLN COLLEGE

Quitting July 1, He Cites "Serious Differences" With Curators of Negro School.

By Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 28.—Charles W. Florence, Negro president of Lincoln University, State School for Negroes in Jefferson City, announced today that he was resigning July 1, as a result of differences with the Board of Curators over administration.

Saying there had been "serious disagreement" between the board members and himself, in this connection, Florence declared that he had refused to permit politics in the administration or in the appointment and promotion of faculty members.

While he declined to name board members with whom he differed, Florence said the disagreements hinged on objectives and development, the method of selecting and promoting faculty and staff members, and the makeup of the Board of Curators.

Florence said he had supported a bill in the last session of the Legislature to organize the Board of Curators like the boards of the University of Missouri and the State Teachers College—on a non-partisan basis and with overlapping terms for members. The bill died. Florence said Lincoln curators and several others interested, did not want that type of board.

Under the circumstances, Florence said, it was a question of a new President of a new board. Florence has been president of the school for about six years. Dean W. B. Jason will become acting president of the university.

KIDNAPING TRIAL WITNESS COMMITTED TO HOSPITAL

Man Pleads With Police to Protect Him; Said "Life Isn't Worth Two Cents."

By The Associated Press.
BINGHAMTON, N. Y., June 28.—Joseph Greenberg, unwilling witness for the Government at the O'Connell kidnap trial, today was in Binghamton State Hospital under a 30-day commitment after telling police "My life isn't worth two cents."

After testifying two weeks ago, Greenberg, a New York salesman, was ordered by Federal Judge Frederick H. Bryant to remain in Binghamton until excused. He approached a policeman on the street Saturday night, said his life was in danger and demanded police protection.

After examining Greenberg, Dr. George S. Lape, Deputy Health Officer, committed him to the State hospital.

Greenberg, Lieut. O'Brien said, pleaded with him not to be placed in the Broome County jail where the eight men on trial for the July 7, 1933, abduction of John J. O'Connell Jr. of Albany are held.

Greenberg testified that he sold liquor to John O'Leary, Manning Strelow and Percy Geary, three defendants, during prohibition. As the trial resumed today, the Government having completed its case Friday, Joseph G. M. Brown, counsel for Strelow, made 35 motions for striking out prosecution testimony and exhibits, and attacking the indictments. Judge Bryant reserved decision.

AMELIA EARHART READY TO FLY ON TO NEW GUINEA

American Aviatix Plans to Make Flight From Northern Australia to Lae at Top Speed.

By The Associated Press.

PORT DARWIN, Australia, June 28.—Amelia Earhart made ready today for the "worst part" of her around-the-world flight.

"It's been a very interesting trip," she said. "The American flyer after setting her silver monoplane down in Northern Australia at 11:28 a. m. (7:58 p. m. Sunday, St. Louis time), ending a hop from Koepang in the Dutch East Indies.

"But for slight mechanical trouble, which was remedied at Bandung, Java, we have experienced no delays. We've been sitting down waiting for Australia to turn up, and we'll push on to Lae, New Guinea, tomorrow morning," she explained.

"I'm not taking any risks, but am flying as fast as possible. From Lae to Howland Island will be the worst section of the flight, but with Freddy Noonan navigating I'm confident we'll make it." Noonan is Miss Earhart's navigator on the world trip.

The 1500-mile hop from Lae will take the American flyer across a vast stretch of the Southern Pacific out of sight of land except for a scattering of small islands. Her destination is Howland Island, tiny American possession just above the equator. Miss Earhart has kept her route as near the equator as possible.

From Howland she plans to fly to Hawaii and thence to Oakland, Cal.

AVIATRIX' STORY OF KOEPANG VISIT

By AMELIA EARHART.
(Copyright 1937, New York Tribune, Inc.)

KOEPANG, island of Timor Netherlands East Indies, June 27.—Koepang is the jumping place to cross the Timor Sea to Australia. When I landed it was too late to reach Port Darwin before dark so Fred Noonan and I find ourselves in the Government rest house over night. We are planning to leave the airport at daylight.

The penalty for flying east is losing weight. It is a loss of one hour and a half between here and Australia, for instance, and soon we shall be missing a whole day.

We see Koepang sights. We used some of the time to see the town of Koepang. Perhaps as it is a port of call, Koepang is a large Chinese section where apparently anything can be bought judging by the wares displayed, though it is on the coast there is only a very small fish market. I always search these out.

The climate is very dry and trees are sparse. There is very little cultivation in the open spaces around the airport, the surface of it is grassy, long, dry, undulating in the strong winds. The airport is surrounded by a stone fence a few feet high to keep out roaming wild pigs. The field is a very good one, but there are no facilities except a little shed for fueling, and a small building where the mechanics and Lockheed down and wrap it up for the night with engine and propeller covers.

I am unable to sleep unless I know the plane is well cared for. Our work amused the natives from a nearby village very much, and when we had to turn the craft's nose into the wind all the men willingly and noisily helped push.

Just before supper a native musician arrived on the front doorstep with an instrument strange to me, made of bamboo and strung with copper and steel wires. It is called a sesando. We tried to find out what had been the original stringing and whether it was not fiber from a tree. If we were sure of the stringing we had a present. We are rising at 4 a. m. tomorrow, and if the head winds are not too strong we might make Lae in New Guinea, but fear that the short hop to Port Darwin will be all that we shall be able to accomplish. Our time from Sourabaya was 5 hours 11 minutes, with head winds averaging 17 miles an hour.

Commission Will Act on Suggestion to Increase Hours for Station KFDU.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—A communications commission examiner recommended today the Pulitzer Publishing Co., St. Louis, be denied authority to operate Station KSD unlimited hours instead of sharing time with Station KFDU, Clayton, Mo., as at present.

The examiner also recommended State KFDU be authorized to increase from 22 1/2 per cent to 50 per cent its hours of operation which it shares with Station KSD on 550 kilocycles, with 5 kilowatts power day and 1 kilowatt at night. The commission must act on the report.

The examiner recommended Station KSD be authorized to renew its license subject to the schedule of operation he designated for the use of Station KFDU. The schedule would authorize KFDU to operate 7 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., 12:30 to 2 p. m., 3 p. m. to 5:45 p. m., and 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. THOUSANDS OF BOY SCOUTS AT CAPITAL FOR JAMBOREE Conclave at Washington, D. C., Will Open Wednesday; Texas Boy Scouts Operated On.

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—Boy Scouts continued to arrive here today for the national jamboree which begins Wednesday.

From West Texas came a scout troop equipped with cow branding irons and an offer to "brand anything you've got." Another delegation from the Lone Star State wanted to trade horden toads or a baby fox for wooden shoes which scouts brought from the Netherlands.

Thirty-nine special trains brought 6000 scouts to the camp yesterday. Most of them were under tents before a late afternoon shower drenched their equipment.

Edward Raley of Lubbock, Tex., scarcely had reached his troop headquarters when he was stricken with appendicitis. After an emergency operation at Naval Hospital, physicians reported his condition excellent.

Jimmy Denton of Tuckerman, Ark., was one of the most surprised boys in camp. He had left his brother, Graham, behind when he boarded a train for Washington, but found him there when he arrived. Graham said he decided originally not to make the trip, but changed his mind and came by plane.

AUTO FIRMS ASK COURT TO HALT C I O PICKETS

George F. Berry Says 40 Dealers Are Signed Up to A. F. of L. Contracts.

The campaigns of rival unions to organize automobile mechanics here were the subject of testimony today at the opening of a hearing before Circuit Judge Charles B. Williams on an application by 12 automobile dealers for an injunction to prevent the Committee for Industrial Organization from picketing their places of business.

George F. Berry, chairman of the Labor Relations Committee of the Greater St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association, explained to the court that the American Federation of Labor began organizing the automobile mechanics last January and, following negotiations with the dealers' association in April, 40 firms signed A. F. of L. wage agreements. Sixty other companies in the association did not, Berry said.

Subsequently the rival C I O sought an agreement with members of the association, the witness testified.

I. L. Marting, a Chevrolet dealer, testified that his shop employees went on strike June 8 after about 25 men appeared at his place of business and demanded that the employees sign up with the C I O mechanics local union. Marting stated that the callers "exhibited a threatening attitude," and some of his men later explained they had joined the C I O to "avoid trouble."

William Denhard, head of the Denhard Motor Co., testified he had signed the A. F. of L. contract on June 8 a crowd of about 100 men stood outside his place while three C I O representatives came in and demanded that he sign an agreement with that organization. Denhard said his 18 mechanics were on their jobs despite a second visit by a C I O group, which paraded and distributed handbills.

W. R. Johnson, of the Love-Johnson Motor Co., stated that 300 men picketed the company's show rooms and shop after 18 mechanics refused to sign up with the C I O. Several nights later missiles were thrown through a plate glass window in the show room, Johnson testified. Love-Johnson employees did not strike.

Employees of the Weber Implement & Motor Co., 1829 Locust street, one of the petitioning firms, returned to work today, ending a 27-day strike. Officers of the firm could not be reached for a statement. Delmond Garst, international representative of the United Automobile Workers, the C I O union against which the injunction suit is directed, said the 45 Weber shop workers were C I O members and had gone back to work under a verbal agreement between the union and the company, which was one of those signing an A. F. of L. contract. Garst said he was not at liberty to reveal the terms of the settlement.

ATTORNEY DIES

JOHN A. HOPE

'SPOT' REAGAN SEEKING REHEARING OF APPEAL

Counsel Files Motion in Supreme Court, Which Upheld Murder Conviction.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 28.—Counsel for John J. (Spot) Reagan, whose conviction and 15-year prison sentence for murder was upheld last Monday by Division No. 2 of the Missouri Supreme Court, today filed a motion for a rehearing of his appeal.

The motion, calling attention to the fact that the opinion was written by Commissioner James A. Cooley and adopted by the three Judges of Division No. 2, questions the authority of the Legislature in creating the Supreme Court Commission, asserting it violates Reagan's constitutional rights. It contends also that the Supreme Court placed a "most strained and narrow construction" on the statute governing motions for new trials which replaced the old "shot-gun motion" section and requires that assignments of error must be set out in detail.

Police have been unable to find Reagan, former professional bondsman and saloon keeper, since the Supreme Court upheld his conviction in St. Louis Circuit Court for the murder of Clifford Apple, a salesman, who was shot and killed May 11, 1935. Apple was shot by Reagan as he played ball in an alley near Reagan's home after he had been ordered off a nearby lot. Reagan was a fugitive for more than two years before police found him.

GUILD VOTES TO MAKE HEARST KEEP MEN LET GO IN NEW YORK

American and Journal's Editorial Employees Stand Three to Two for Strike.

NEW YORK, June 28. — By a vote of three to two, the New York American and Journal units of the Newspaper Guild of New York last night empowered officers to call a strike if demands for retention of those recently dismissed as a result of suspension of the New York American were rejected by the newspaper management.

Four hours of discussion preceded the Guild vote. The Guild Executive Committee was instructed to make new efforts to reach an agreement.

Failure of future negotiations, the group decided, would authorize the Executive Committee to call a strike following consultation with employees involved, with approval of the New York Guild.

DAVEY STANDS PAT ON STORY OF PERKINS STRIKE PROPOSAL

Governor Says Labor Secretary Sent McGrady to Urge Closing of Mills Until Steel Operators Signed Union Pact.

By the Associated Press.
YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 28.—Gov. Martin L. Davey took occasion last night to elucidate his remarks of Saturday in connection with Secretary of Labor Perkins. He quoted her as saying to him over the telephone Thursday evening: "We must not let the efforts of the (Federal) Mediation Board fail. We cannot let our labor friends think that we have let them down. I think you ought to keep those mills closed until a settlement is reached. . . . I think you ought to have Tom Girdler (head of Republic Steel) and Frank Purnell (head of Youngstown Sheet & Tube) subpoenaed to Columbus and keep them there until they reach an agreement."

"Inasmuch as Secretary Perkins questions the accuracy of the quotation, it is only fair to say that she sent Assistant Secretary (Edward F.) McGrady to see me the next day to urge the same general proposal. Utters Reproof to Labor. "Finally, Secretary Perkins insisted that her original proposal be carried out. I do not question her sincerity, nor her right to make such a request. It is a difference in point of view, perhaps. At any rate, my own intelligence and conscience must determine the conduct of the Ohio Government. No issue is involved, as far as the State is concerned, except law and order." The Governor also took occasion in his statement to administer a reproof to labor.

"Some years ago, capital was in the saddle," he said. "Today labor has a new-found freedom and power. It is now guilty of some of the excesses and abuses that it formerly complained of. This new feeling of power has made some of the new leaders forget their responsibilities and either do or condone certain lawless actions that the American people do not like."

Notes Rise of Public Alarm. "This new labor movement has not established self-discipline. Granting that there have been sins on the part of some employers, this does not excuse the use of force and violence against other workers who do not wish to join this particular union and whose only desire is to work and earn a living. "Perhaps you do not realize it, because you are in contact with only one group, but there is a rising tide of public opinion that is entirely out of sympathy with present conditions. Many people are becoming alarmed by the grave uncertainty of today, and I happen to be one of them. Their numbers are growing rapidly."

"At any rate, my oath of office gives me one clear duty: To protect our citizens and uphold the law, come what may."

Secretary Perkins, in reply Saturday night, said she "merely suggested" to Gov. Davey that he use the State commission's subpoena to bring the steel men into a peace conference with strike leaders. The conference method of settling the strike, she pointed out, had been suggested by the mediation board.

TOWN THREATENED BY FLOOD EVACUATED

Bellevue, O., Endangered by Rapidly Rising Level of Lake.

By the Associated Press.
BELLEVUE, O., June 28. — The entire south side of this town of 6000 has been evacuated as water in a lake two miles square rose rapidly to within a foot of the top of a 30-foot embankment.

The lake, formed by seepage from a number of underground streams over which a large part of Bellevue is built, was being held by an embankment of the Wheeling & Lake Erie Railroad, patrolled today by two companies of Ohio National Guardsmen.

The underground streams, normally flowing beneath the region to Lake Erie, are filled by heavy rains of the past week, and unable to take care of natural drainage which also has gone into the temporary lake.

With the tremendous pressure placed on the underground streams, it was not an unusual sight in Bellevue today to see the streams breaking through the streets in geyers 15 to 20 feet high.

Safety Director George Burgess, named disaster chief after Mayor Woelagel declared a state of emergency to exist, blocked automobile traffic into the town today and only persons with passes or able to give a good reason for their presence in the town were permitted to enter.

Burgess estimated the lake covers 2000 acres, and that in many places it is 30 feet deep, covering the tops of tall trees. He expressed fear that the embankment might give way, but said there is no way of checking possible weak places because of the depth of the water.

About half of the town is under water to a depth of four feet in some places, and Burgess said 1000 more homes would be affected if the embankment should give way.

One house was destroyed last night in one of several fires which broke out in the city. Most of the fires were brought under control quickly. However, floating oil and gasoline presented a constant fire menace.

MARYLAND JAIL GUARDED AFTER STRIKER IS ARRESTED

150 Persons Gather at Cambridge,
But Leave Quietly When 12
State Police Arrive.

By the Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Md., June 28.—Approximately 150 persons gathered yesterday around the Dorchester County Jail, where Lonnie Nealan, cannery strike leader, was being held on a disorderly conduct charge, but withdrew when 12 State police appeared with tear gas and riot guns.

Members of the crowd were not disorderly and attempted no violence. Strike leaders moved among them and advised them to depart quietly.

Nealan, a leader in unsuccessful negotiations for wage increases for the 2000 employees of the strike-closed Phillips Packing Co., was booked on a charge of being "drunk and disorderly."

Chief of Police Grason Price said he had arrested the strike leader mainly for "creating a disturbance and swearing over the telephone." He told a delegation of strikers, headed by Edward Hicks and William Stewart, he would release Nealan on posting of a $10 cash or $50 property bond for a hearing tomorrow.

After talking with the Sheriff, the strike leaders aided in persuading the crowd of strikers to leave the jail yard. The Sheriff called the State policemen from their quarters in a nearby hotel "just to have them around," he said.

The police officers went quietly to the jail and took their places inside with their weapons.

LET-UP IN SEARCH FOR MRS. PARSONS

Federal and State Officers to Close Special Headquarters
Used in Investigation.

By the Associated Press.

STONY BROOK, N. Y., June 28.—The special headquarters from which Federal and State authorities have been investigating the disappearance of Mrs. Alice McDonnell Parsons will be closed today, it was announced by Inspector Earl J. Connelley, in charge of Federal agents on duty in the case, and Assistant District Attorney Harry Brenner.

Investigation will be continued from the New York office, Connelley said. The announcement was made after a conference yesterday, in which other officials participated.

The decision, Brenner said, means that the case will no longer receive the concentrated attention given it since June 9 when Mrs. Parsons was reported missing from her home. He said State troopers, county and local investigators, and the District Attorney of Suffolk County would continue to work on the case from their regular offices. Several hours after Mrs. Parsons' disappearance a ransom note demanding $25,000 was found.

LEWIS UNIONS TO BE OUSTED BY CALIFORNIA FEDERATION
Affiliation to Cease "the Minute Their Membership Votes in Favor of C. I. O."

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 28.—Plans to oust from the California Federation of Labor all organizations supporting John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization were announced today by Edward D. Vandeleur, Federation secretary.

He said under new orders issued by the Federal Executive Council, which met here yesterday, "any California local union will cease to be affiliated with the State Federation the minute their membership votes in favor of the C. I. O."

REPORT RECOMMENDS BROADER CIVIL SERVICE
President's Board Would Take Most Federal Jobs Out of Spoils System.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Experts of President Roosevelt's Committee on Administrative Management recommended yesterday that the civil service be extended to include all Government jobs except a few policy-making positions.

They proposed also that the present Civil Service Commission be abolished and succeeded by a single administrator under a non-political board of seven. The board would be appointed by the President, subject to the approval of the Senate.

The report, a 75-page document which explored many personnel problems, was prepared by Floyd W. Reeves of the University of Chicago and Paul T. David, director of studies of the Vocational Educational Council.

Would Bar Party Leaders.
To prevent "the practical political problem of the patronage" from obstructing an approach to the democratic ideal of equality of opportunity in accordance with merit, the experts recommended that appointments be as far removed from politics as possible.

They suggested that, in naming the Civil Service Board, the President be forbidden to appoint anyone who within the preceding five years had been a member of any party committee or who had been a candidate for any public office.

The principal duty of the board would be to select other boards to examine applicants for Government posts, including that of the Civil Service Administrator. The top board would receive no salaries, but would be reimbursed for time and expenses.

Would Divide Job Groups.
"All high administrative positions in the various establishments should be divided into two groups, one definitely policy-forming in the political sense, the other purely administrative and non-political," the report said.

"The non-political group in each department or similar agency should be headed by a well-qualified non-political executive officer equivalent in rank to an undersecretary."

"The high non-political positions should be filled in accordance with the service rules as they exist, as far as feasible, in order that adherence to a merit basis may be self-evident and self-sustaining."

AGUA CALIENTE TO REOPEN BUT BAR ON GAMING STANDS
Casino at Mexican Resort Will Be Turned Into Night Club; Reduction in Racing Schedule.

By the Associated Press.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., June 28.—Agua Caliente resort will be reopened Friday, it was announced last night by Gen. Lopez, president of the Agua Caliente Co. and builder of the $10,000,000 establishment which has been closed since July, 1935, when gambling was barred in Mexico.

Long, after extended conferences with Mexican officials, said there would be no gambling games at the reopened hotel. The Casino will be turned into a night club.

The race track, also closed in July, 1935, was reopened last May by Gen. Normie, San Diego (Cal.) sportsman. The track has been operating four days a week. During July it will run Sundays only, then resume the more extended schedule in August.

JUDICIAL PROPOSALS TO COME UP JULY 12
Full Senate Committee Votes to Study All Alternatives at Once.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Senate Judiciary Committee agreed today to consider on July 12 all pending proposals for constitutional amendments affecting the judiciary.

A score or more of proposals jammed up in committee for many months behind the Roosevelt bill providing for enlargement of the Supreme Court unless older Justices now on the bench retire.

The various proposed constitutional amendments, providing for a variety of alternatives, all have been referred to subcommittees but not discussed by the full committee because of the pressure of other matters and lack of unanimity on a single proposal.

Roosevelt's Bill on Calendar.
The Senate had its first chance to pass on the Roosevelt bill at today's session.

The measure came up during routine consideration of the calendar under rules requiring unanimous consent for consideration of a bill. Burke objected. That leaves the bill on the calendar until called up by vote of the Senate, probably next week.

A MAGNET ON THE BEACH...SHE WAS A WASHOUT INDOORS!

Well-known writer and commentator on society warns us: "Sometimes a person who is truly glamorous outdoors comes to social grief indoors. Very often the cause is not lack of social graces or accomplishments, but personal carelessness." Consider this wealthy widow's plight...

THE WIDOW G. CERTAINLY HAS A CORNER ON THE MEN ON THIS BEACH
ON THE BEACH...YES, BUT SHE HAS A HARD TIME FINDING A PARTNER AT A DANCE IS SHE SUCH A POOR DANCER?
ANYTHING BUT! FRANKLY SHE HAS 'BO' AND DOESN'T KNOW IT. SHE ISN'T WISE ENOUGH TO USE LIFEBOUY
EVERYONE I KNOW USES LIFEBOUY. IT CONTAINS A SPECIAL PURIFYING INGREDIENT THAT'S NOT IN THE OTHER WELL-KNOWN TOILET SOAPS
SH-SH, HERE SHE IS! I THINK SHE HEARD YOU

MRS. G., HAVE YOU SEEN MY CAKE OF LIFEBOUY?
RIGHT HERE, MY DEAR—I BORROWED IT BECAUSE I OVERHEARD YOUR VERY FRANK COMMENTS. THANKS!

LATER...NOW THAT LIFEBOUY'S A REGULAR HABIT
YOUR WIDOW SEEMS TO GET ALL THE MEN INDOORS AS WELL AS OUT
IT'S MY OWN FAULT FOR TIPPING HER OFF ABOUT LIFEBOUY. BUT I'M GLAD...A WOMAN AS STUNNING AS SHE IS SHOULDN'T BE HANDICAPPED BY 'BO'

REMEMBER, A LITTLE CARELESSNESS CAN KILL A LOT OF GLAMOUR
THAT'S a bit of advice really dainty women never forget... An overwhelming percentage of them do too—use it for bath than any other soap. These facts were revealed when 8 leading magazines questioned 120,000 women.

Lifebouy is tonic to the complexion, too... Helps make skins of all types—dry, oily and medium—smooth, more glamorous, healthier! For the same special purifying ingredient in the latter that stops "B.O." makes Lifebouy more than 20% milder than many so-called "beauty soaps" and "baby soaps."

A. F. L. ORGANIZER'S AUTO DYNAMITED AT DETROIT Front Part of Machine Wrecked; Many Windows Broken by Explosion.

By the Associated Press.

DETROIT, June 28.—A dynamite bomb wrecked the front part of the automobile of Joseph O'Laughlin, American Federation of Labor organizer and business agent of a truck drivers' local, early today.

Police began a search for an unidentified man who, a witness said, had driven up to O'Laughlin's car and tinkered with the motor. A few moments after he had driven away came the explosion. The truck, pulling a gasoline-tank trailer, struck an Eastern Michigan Lines bus Saturday night. The bus driver, Harley Ferguson, 37, of Detroit, died at the wheel.

SUIT TO TEST LEGAL POWERS OF ADJUSTERS

Insurance Firms Ask Court to Determine What Is Practice of Law.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 28.—Trial of a suit designed to determine how far the layman may go in the conduct of his business without the necessity of employing a lawyer to settle claims, make contracts and perform similar services began today in Boone County Circuit Court.

The point at issue is whether the activities of lay adjusters and claims executives of six actual insurance companies, who are the plaintiffs, constitute the illegal practice of law.

The suit, under the declaratory judgment law, is a request by the six plaintiff insurance companies that the court interpret the statute governing legal practice of law as it applies to their practices.

Defendants in the case are Boyle G. Clark of Columbia, chairman of the Bar Committee of Missouri, and members of the State Bar Advisory Committee, who recently have instituted several suits against insurance companies in Missouri, alleging illegal law practice by adjusters.

Decision Will Have Broad Effect.

William L. Hoggsett of Kansas City, chief plaintiff counsel, declared in his opening argument that the decision in the case will affect far more than insurance firms. He asserted that if the Bar Committee's present interpretation of what constitutes the illegal practice of law is allowed to stand that it can just as well be applied to such common-place business transactions as the sale of a railroad ticket, a farmer selling his livestock or a newspaper negotiating an advertising contract, as to an insurance adjuster settling a claim.

"This Bar Committee," Hoggsett said, "is doing a great deal of fine work which everybody should and does applaud. However, in this case, we suggest that it has now gone one step too far when it says a casualty insurance adjuster cannot settle claims."

"We are not contending," Hoggsett continued, "that laymen should be permitted to practice law, what we say is that our lay employees have not been practicing law." Pointing out that the insurance companies are licensed and expressly permitted to conduct their type of business under State statute, Hoggsett contended there is "implied power to do all the things naturally and reasonably incident to this business, including the settlement and investigation of claims and the obtaining of releases. There are just as incidental to the insurance business as operating a train is to the railroad business."

New Code Adopted.

Hoggsett announced that, at a conference in St. Louis last month, the plaintiff companies adopted a new code of practice which required an attorney in each district office, prohibited lay adjusters from expressing opinions on legal questions and also prohibited laymen from trying workmen's compensation commission cases. Adoption of the new code, Hoggsett added, however, in no way constitutes an admission by the companies that their old methods constituted an illegal practice of law.

Testimony of dozens of insurance executives and adjusters was to be heard in the case, which is expected to last a week. A three-judge court—Judge W. M. Dinwiddie of Columbia, Judge Wesley McAfee of St. Louis and Judge E. M. Deering of Potosi—is hearing the suit, which is being tried under the declaratory judgment law.

Special leave to file the cases was obtained from the State Supreme Court since the State bar committees constitute a part of the court. The plaintiff insurance companies are Liberty Mutual, American Mutual Liability, Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty, Hardware Mutual Casualty, Employers' Mutual Indemnity and Employers' Mutual Liability and the five Missouri claims executives of the six companies.

"Mere Change in Routine."

In his answer to Hoggsett, Clark asserted that Hoggsett's own argu-

MRS. RAYMOND SANDERS and triplets born to her last Friday evening at her home in Wood River. The physician who attended her was assisted only by her husband, an oil refinery worker, who tied distinguishing ribbons about the wrists of the first two born to mark the order of their birth. The weights of the two girls and boy were given as 5 1/4, 5 and 4 1/4 pounds, respectively. The Sanderses are parents of three other children, 10, 8 and 2 years old.

ment constituted an admission that laymen in the insurance business are engaged in illegal practice of law, as defined by the courts. Clark termed as "a mere change of routine" the new code of practice Hoggsett said the insurance companies have adopted.

The bar chairman, admitting that even attorneys representing the Bar Committees are disagreed on the question, raised the point as to whether use by insurance companies of salaried lawyers to represent the assured in suits for amounts larger than covered by their insurance is not illegal law practice.

Foreign Bondholders Protective Council Condemns Practice but Does Not Name Governments.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The Foreign Bondholders' Protective Council, in its annual report made public yesterday, condemns the practice of "certain debtor governments" which, having forced down the value of their bonds by defaulting on them, use their available funds to buy the bonds back in a depressed market instead of meeting interest payments.

Saying it "regrets extremely that it must again make note" of this situation, the council commented: "If the bonds have service, according to their contracts, the debtor governments are, of course, well within their rights in availing themselves of the opportunity of purchasing the bonds on the market, even if they are selling substantially below par, but to do so when the bonds are depreciated abnormally on account of default in payment of the contract service is a practice which the council most strongly condemns."

Governments Not Named.

The report does not name the governments engaging in this practice.

J. Reuben Clark, former Ambassador to Mexico, is president of the council, which was formed in 1933 at the suggestion of this Government for the protection of American holders of foreign securities.

The report shows the world-wide extent of default on dollar bonds either issued or guaranteed by foreign governments or their political subdivisions.

Of an approximate total of $6,830,000,000 in original issues, there is approximately $3,374,000,000 outstanding. Of this amount, some $2,070,000,000 is in default.

"While there has been large defaults in Europe," the report continued, "the German situation being particularly aggravated, as also some defaults in the Far East and some other parts of the world, the Latin American countries, taken as a world group, have made the relatively poorest showing in the adjustment of their defaulted debts."

The total amount of outstanding dollar bonds of Latin American governments, and political subdivisions thereof, aggregated on Dec. 31, 1936, approximately $1,541,486,900.

76 Per Cent in Part or Total Default.

"Of this amount, approximately $1,168,663,000, or 76 per cent, was in total or partial default."

"In 1936, the exports from the United States to Latin America totaled $365,328,022, while the imports totaled $501,794,123. The balance against the United States was $136,466,106, more than enough exchange, as a block to pay the annual interest charges in full."

The grouping of other areas shows:

Europe—Outstanding, $1,656,235,212; in default, $325,624,105.

Far East and Africa—Outstanding, $531,023,900; in default, $12,846,000.

Canada—Outstanding, $1,646,169,587; in default, $63,339,692.

Regarding permanent settlements, the report says:

"The council has continued to take the position during the past year that the present moment is not the proper time to make long-term permanent debt settlements."

Not infrequently, in negotiations with foreign governments, the report says, "the argument is made that the interest rate at the time the loan was made is now too high, in view of the level of interest rates at the present time."

Interest Rates Now Out of Line.

"It is true that many loans were made at rates of interest which are now out of line with existing rates, but it is also true that the interest rates of the loans were entirely in line and at proper levels when the loans were made."

"Any borrower takes the risk when he makes a loan any percent of interest that the rate may go down from the percentage he promises to pay. This is an inherent risk of borrowing. On the other hand, the lender lends his money at the risk that the rates will advance and that before his loan is paid his money will be worth much more than the rate at which he loaned it. This is the lender's risk."

"These two risks must be considered 'wash' in all financial transactions, otherwise it would be impossible for men and nations to do business."

Debtor nations make frequent reference to their "capacity to pay," and of this the council says: "No nation has any right to invoke its lack of 'capacity to pay' its obligations to private creditors until it has fully exhausted its taxing powers and no debtor sovereign now in default, in so far as the council is advised, has even approached a condition of exhaustion of its taxing powers."

RIO GRANDE INDIANS THANK PLUMED SERPENT FOR RAINS

Lightning-Tongued Ah-Wah-Yoh Blesses Tribal Fields With Showers After Fagan Festival.

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 28.—The people of the Rio Grande Pueblos surveyed their green corn fields today and murmured grateful prayers to the Great Plumed Serpent.

To Ah-Wah-Yoh, who shoots out his lightning tongue to send down the rain, tribal priests ascribe showers that have totaled nearly an inch and a half since the great San Juan day dances of Thursday.

The daily showers have added the promise of a bountiful harvest to the foot-high corn stalks—an answer to their half-pagan, half-Christian prayers.

After a Catholic mass the tom-toms began throbbing. Garbed in shaggy buffalo skins, the braves and the maidens danced. Similar ceremonies were carried out on rocky Acoma, the sky city atop a 500-foot rock.

Then came the rain, in gentle showers that spread to the north-eastern New Mexico drought bowl.

To non-Indian residents it is the rainy season, somewhat ahead of time.

BUDGE DE Four Card

FRISCH NAMED COACH; HAINES GIVEN HONORARY POST BY TERRY

Dizzy Dean, Mize, Medwick and Pepper Martin on N. L. Team—Bell and Clift on A. L. Squad.

Six St. Louis players—four from the Cardinals and two from the Browns' roster—were named today to play in the annual major league All-Star game at Washington, July 7.

The Redbird players selected were Dizzy Dean, Johnny Mize, Joe Medwick and Pepper Martin, while the Brownie representatives in the contest will be Harland Clift and Beau Bell.

In addition, Frankie Frisch, manager of the Cardinals was selected as one of the coaches by Bill Terry, while Jesse Haines, 43-year-old pitcher, was named honorary coach of the National League.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The all-star squad with which the National League hopes to make it two straight over the American League at Washington, July 7, was announced today by Bill Terry, boss of the hand-picked forces as a result of leading his Giants to a pennant last year.

The squad of 23 players, selected by Terry after consultation with rival strategists, includes all the headlines and represents every league club.

Terry's own team tops the list with six delegates to the big show. The Chicago Cubs contribute five, the St. Louis Cardinals four, and the Pittsburgh Pirates three players.

The seven infielders named do not include a regular third baseman. Last year Pinky Whitney of the Phillies guarded the hot spot. Terry hasn't committed himself definitely yet, but the chances are he will assign the slugging Pirate shortstop, Arky Vaughan, to third base in the starting lineup, with Dick Bartell at short.

Dean Named Fourth Time.

Dizzy Dean and Carl Hubbell, quite naturally, top the hurling staff. Each has appeared in three of the four previous all-star games. Hubbell was the hero in 1934, although the Nationals lost the game after he left the box. Dean was credited with the league's first victory, last year at Boston.

Van Mungo, who has worked in one previous game, and the Cardinals' comers round out the pitching staff. Pittsburgh's Darrell (Cy) Blanton is the most likely "freshman" to see action.

Leo (Gabby) Hartnett of the Cubs is the only "four-star" nominee. He has been behind the bat in every all-star game and probably start this one.

There's not much doubt that Johnny Mize of the Cardinals, another freshman selection, will start at first base, with Billy Herman of the Cubs in the keystone spot, for the fourth straight year. The starting outfield figures to consist of Joe (Muscles) Medwick, Frank Demaree and Paul Waner.

Terry named two managerial rivals, Frank Frisch of the Cardinals and Charlie Dresen of the Reds, as coaches. A new assignment, honorary coach, goes to Jesse Haines, dean of the National League pitchers.

Terry's Selections.

Of the previous "three-timers" in the all-star game, only two are missing, Wally Berger, now with the Giants, and Lon Warneke, Cardinals' right-hander.

Here are Terry's selections, with years of previous all-star competitive appearances given in brackets: Pitchers—Dizzy Dean, Cardinals (34-35-36); Carl Hubbell, Giants (34-35-36); Van Lingle Mungo, Dodgers (34); Cy Blanton, Pirates (34-35); Dick Bartell, Giants (33); Burgess Whitehead, Giants (35).

Catchers—Leo Hartnett, Cubs (33-34-35-36); Gus Mancuso, Giants (35); and Ernie Lombardi, Reds.

Infielders—Johnny Mize, Cardinals; Jimmy Collins, Cubs (35-36); Billy Jurges, Cubs (34-35-36); Bill Jurgens, Cubs; Arky Vaughan, Pirates (34-35); Dick Bartell, Giants (33); Burgess Whitehead, Giants (35).

Outfielders—Joe Medwick, Cardinals (34-35-36); Frank Demaree, Cubs (36); Paul Waner, Pirates (33-34-35-36).

Cards and Browns Idle Today; Cubs Are Here Tomorrow

BOTH the Cardinals and Browns have open dates today, as do all the clubs in both major leagues.

The Cardinals open an important three-game series with the Chicago Cubs tomorrow, with single games booked also for Wednesday and Thursday, after which the Cardinals depart.

The Browns play a three-game series with the Indians at Cleveland, starting tomorrow, after which they return home for a short stay.

DOUBLE DEFEAT DROPS BROWNS TO LAST PLACE

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

BOSTON, June 28.—The Browns' valiant struggle to stay in seventh place came to an end yesterday when Manager Hornsby's men dropped a double decision to the Red Sox and flopped back into the American League cellar, half a game behind the Philadelphia Athletics.

After being blanked in the first game, 8 to 0, the Browns made a battle of it in the nightcap, only to lose, 11 to 7.

Oral Hildebrand pitched admirably in the opener until the fourth, when he walked Doc Cramer. Then Chapman's triple down the right-field line scored Cramer. Cronin flied out, Bell and Chaplin did little to challenge Bell's arm. After Fox had been called out on strikes, Higgins singled to left scoring Chapman.

Browns Miss.

The Browns had a chance in their fourth, when West singled as a starter, with Allen slugging into a double play. Bell followed with a double to center, took third on a passed ball, but Clift fanned. Allen and Bell singled with two down in the sixth, but Cramer gathered in Clift's terrific drive to deep center for the third out.

After Rollie Hemsey had failed as a pinch hitter for Hildebrand in the eighth, Al Thomas pitched the Boston eighth and got two outs, walked, forcing out a tally. McNair was hit, sending in another. Berg's single scored two. There was a bad throw by Bell in throwing the ball home, and then Wilson's single sent home two more mates.

The Sox clubbed out 16 hits against Knott, Trotter and Koupal in the second game.

The Browns were held to nine hits, and their big flare was in the fifth, when they made five runs off Rube (Lefty) Walberg. Harland Clift got his fourteenth homer of the season.

GULDAHL AND MANERO PAIRED FOR RYDER CUP TEAM MATCHES

By the Associated Press.

SOUTHPORT, England, June 28.—Captain Walter Hagen today selected five men with British golfing experience and three rookies to start defense of the Ryder Cup against Great Britain in the Scotch foursomes over the rugged Southport and Ainsdale course tomorrow.

The non-playing captain of the American forces sent Sam Snead, sensational rookie, and Horton Smith to the sidelines and paired Gene Sarazen and Denny Shute; Byron Nelson and Ed Dudley; Tony Manero and Ralph Guldahl, the American open champion, and Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta for the tandem events.

Hagen indicated, however, that Snead and Smith both would be included in the singles lineup which will be announced tomorrow night. The cup program calls for four foursome matches tomorrow and eight singles matches Wednesday.

Sarazen, Shute, Dudley, Manero and Picard all have some knowledge, at least, of the vagaries of British winds, but Revolta, who played with the American team at Ridgewood, N. J., in 1935; Guldahl and Nelson all are playing in Great Britain for the first time.

On their showing yesterday when they scored a 68, four under par, in practice, Guldahl and Nelson were given the No. 1 spot, where they will meet the British open champion, Alf Padgham, and Henry Cotton, who is returning to the matches for the first time since 1929.

The other matches will send Guldahl and Manero against Arthur Lacey and W. J. Cox; Sarazen and Shute against Captain Charles A. Whitcombe and David Rees, and Picard and Revolta against Percy Allis and Richard Burton.

Whitcombe originally was to have been the non-playing leader of the British challengers, but elected, instead, to send Alf Perry, the 1935 British open champion, and Sam King to the sidelines on the opening day.

Hagen's selections caused no surprise, but the placings hardly were expected. The British generally had believed Sarazen and Shute and Revolta and Picard would be given the No. 1 and No. 2 positions, respectively.

All the British competitors except the black-haired, 140-pound, 24-year-old Welsh assistant pro have played in the cup matches before.

Hagen explained Smith and Snead were dropped from the foursomes lineup because he felt they were long drives a handicap on the 40-49 yard fairways of the Southport and Ainsdale course.

GEORGIA TECH GOLFER LEADS IN COLLEGIATE TITLE TOURNEY

By the Associated Press.

OAKMONT, Pa., June 28.—Stanley Holditch, curly, blond-haired Georgia Tech youngster, took the early lead in the first 18-hole qualifying round of national intercollegiate golf championship today with a 37-37-74, two over par.

The collegians found the tightly stretched Oakmont home nine a terrifying bugaboo and scores soared. A half-dozen players kept stalling with par on the front side, but all faded coming in. Vincent D'Antonio, Tulane, and Rufus King, Southern Methodist, were tied at 76.

Holditch lost a shot on the short eighth, but canned a 12-footer for a birdie at No. 8. He took bogies at 10, 11 and 12, but ran down a 15-foot putt for a birdie at 12.

Traps brought forth to O'Antoni after he had turned in even par. King, who popped into the spotlight by winning the national senior trapshooting crown at 14 in 1930 and gained notice again by scoring Lawson Little in the 1935 national golf amateur, shot a steady 38-38.

38,719 See Hubbell Give Cards Six Hits And Defeat Dean, 8-1

By James M. Gould.

A baseball axiom—you can believe it or not—is to the effect that "the team that is in the lead July 4th is the team that will win the pennant." Whether or not this "self-evident fact" is true, the way is certainly open for some tall guessing insofar as the race in the National League is concerned.

Here it is only a week before the allegedly crucial Independence day date and there's no telling which of three, possibly four, teams will be leading the pack when said date arrives. Take a look at today's standings in what has been nicknamed "the elder circuit." Just one-half a game separates the first three clubs—Cubs, Cardinals and Giants—and the fourth-place Pirates are but three and one-half games from the top.

Chicago has a half-game, seven-point advantage over the Cards, who, three points ahead of the Giants, are practically tied with the New Yorkers inasmuch as the difference in games won and lost is the same. There have been tight races in the National League before, but this present one bids fair to outdo all others in that respect.

Cubs Here Tomorrow.

This jam was made possible by yesterday's happenings among which were a double defeat for the Cubs, an 8-1 reverse for the Cardinals at the hands of the Giants and a victory for the Pirates. It is fortunate that today is an open date, so the league statisticians can get their figures in order.

And, just to make things better for St. Louis fans, the Cubs open a three-game series here tomorrow. A victory for the Redbirds yesterday would have put "Worryin' Frank" Frisch's team at the top of the heap, but it was not so to be. There were two obstacles in the way of the Redbirds—Carl Hubbell and Mel Ott.

Manager Frisch did his part to please the great single-game crowd of 38,719 paid by opposing Hubbell with Dizzy Dean. It was the tenth renewal of the Dean-Hubbell personal pitching duel and honors for the day went, without any shadow of doubt, to the gangling New York southpaw. For the sixth time in their 10 meetings, Hubbell clearly outpointed his St. Louis rival.

Six Hits Off King Carl.

Allowing only six hits, two of them when he had a long lead in the ninth, striking out six and refusing to issue a pass, Hubbell might well have come through without the assistance of Mel Ott, but that young outfielding gentleman, who holds the record of being a 10-year man in baseball at the age of 26, certainly helped prodigiously with two home runs, his fourteenth and fifteenth of the season.

Just how effective Hubbell was

SCORES HIGH IN JUNIOR GIRLS' GOLF TOURNEY

NORWOOD HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, June 28.—Scores were generally high today in the qualifying round of the golf tournament for girls under 18, sponsored by the Women's District Golf Association.

Of the first 12 to finish—15 are entered—only two returned scores of under 100. The early leader was Mary Sheridan of Forest Park with 95. She was followed by Dorothy Campbell of Norwood with 97. Miss Campbell, 12 years old, is the youngest entry.

Other qualifying scores were: Irene Killian, Forest Park, 140; Mary Rogers, Algonquin, 112; Marion Muller, unattached, 137; Marie Doenges, Norwood, 133; Jane Bates, University City, 128; Marilyn Taylor, Glen Echo, 137; Helen Taylor, Glen Echo, 136; Ruth Frater, unattached, 173; Mary Mullen, unattached, 142; and Helen Badaracco, University City, 153; Della Emerson, Normandy, 129; Betty Emerson, Normandy, 146; Peggy Curran, Glen Echo, 126.

Those with the eight lowest scores will compete in first-round matches tomorrow, when, also, driving, putting and approaching contests will be held.

Melnych Gains Title.

DENVER, June 28.—Neelson Melnych of Kansas City, Kan., University of California at Los Angeles student, defeated Sid Milstein, Denver ace, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0, here yesterday to win the men's singles championship of the Denver Tennis Club's annual tournament.

PARKER WINS OVERGERMAN; BITSY GRANT IS BEATEN

Atlanta Star Loses to Austin in Straight Sets—Von Cramm Forced to Limit by Crawford.

By the Associated Press.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28.—Don Budge, America's red-headed Davis Cup ace, eliminated Vivian McGrath of Australia, 6-3, 6-1, 6-4, in the quarter-finals of the all-England tennis championships today but his tiny compatriot, Bryan M. (Betsy) Grant of Atlanta fell before the sound strokes of Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin of England, 6-1, 7-5, 6-4.

Frankie Parker, youngster from Milwaukee, gave the United States two semifinalists in men's singles when he defeated the third seeded Heinrich Henkel of Germany in a stunning surprise, 6-3, 7-5, 4-6, 4-6, 6-2.

Baton Gottfried von Cramm, seeded second to Budge, outlasted veteran Jack Crawford of Australia in the remaining quarterfinal, 6-3, 8-6, 3-6, 2-6, 6-2.

Parker Plays Budge Next.

Parker, who meets Budge in the semifinals Wednesday, played like an automaton and virtually dictated Henkel's every move. The German, obviously rattled, was worn to a frazzle by Parker's steady chop strokes to all corners of the court. As a result of a fine showing, Parker, seeded only eighth for the championships, will have to be given serious consideration when Walter L. Pate, captain of the American Davis Cup team, picks his lineup for the forthcoming interzone finals against either Germany or Czechoslovakia. Parker had yielded the second singles assignment to Grant in the North American zone finals and even had been displaced as first-string reserve for a time by young Wayne Sabin of Hollywood, Cal.

Budge, still in top form, romped through McGrath, seeded No. 7, almost as he pleased, and continued his remarkable record of not losing a set in the current championships nor in the Queens Club tournament which preceded.

The Australian made frequent use of clever drop shots in an effort to halt the lanky American's progress toward the finals but Budge, who he tried, easily reached them.

Puts Up Good Fight.

Grant put up a good fight against Austin but the Briton packed far too many guns. The Atlanta had a chance only in the second set but after gaining a 5-2 lead he could not halt Austin's counter rally and the Englishman ran off five games in succession.

Budge's triumph came after Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., the defending titleholder, and Alice Marble, United States champion from San Francisco, had gained the quarterfinals of the women's division.

Miss Jacobs trounced Miss A. Wright of Great Britain, 6-0, 6-3, and Miss Marble won from Billie Quigley of Holland, 6-2, 6-2. Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and New York was eliminated, however, by Jadwiga Jedzejowska of Poland, 6-0, 6-2.

In the third round of men's doubles, George Patrick, Hughes and C. R. D. Tuckey, British Davis Cup combination, defeated the Swiss, Carl Aeschliman and Max Ellmer, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

The first big upset of the day came as Margaret Scriven of England defeated her compatriot, Kay Stammers, eighth seeded player, 7-5, 6-3, in the fourth round.

Miss Rene Mathieu of France eliminated Mrs. Phyllis Mudford King of England in the fourth round, 1-6, 6-2, 6-0.

Mme. Hilda Krawinkel Sperling of Denmark and Germany, won a fourth round singles match from Miss A. G. Curtis of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-4. Anita Zizana of Chile defeated Betty Nuthall of England, 6-3, 6-2.

WHITE SOX, WITH 6-0 RECORD, LAST WEEK'S LEADERS

PACEMAKERS IN NATIONAL HAD ROUGH TIME IN BASEBALL PLAY

Giants and Cardinals Each Broke Even in Six Games, While Cubs Dropped Four of Seven.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The upsetting antics of the second division major league clubs, although operating similarly in both circuits, are producing widely different results as the pennant dashes near the important July 4 deadline.

In the National League, the surprise packages currently being handed around by the trailing teams, are making the race hotter and hotter. In the American, they seem to be vying with each other to become the closest "cousin" to the New York Yankees, who are enjoying the spectacle of watching their most dangerous rivals fall apart.

In the week ended with yesterday's games, not one of the National League's first division clubs played better than .500 ball, as the Brooklyn Dodgers, by virtue of a Sunday doubleheader victory over the first place Cubs, and the Cincinnati Reds, through their newly-found winning tactics, set the pace with four victories each in seven starts.

Tigers, Indians Collapse.
At the same time, the Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians, rated as the strongest contenders to stop the Yankees' American League pennant defense, collapsed under the road pressure and won but one game each during the week. The immediate result of this development was to drop the Indians to second division, with a less-than-.500 season average, and the Tigers to third place, with the Chicago White Sox, hustling once again, returning to second place.

While the Indians found the Athletics and Senators too tough to handle, and the Tigers were enjoying little success against the Red Sox and Yankees, the White Sox trampled on the Athletics and Nats to win six straight and set the pace for both loops during the week.

Those results, however, were more enjoyable to the Yanks than any other outfit, since it left the world champions with a three and one-half game lead in the American League. They won four of their six games during the week, two of them from the Tigers, to finish the seven-day span just back of the red-hot Red Sox, who took five of six.

The Cubs, losing four of seven, were left with a slim-half game hold on first place in the National League, while the Cardinals and Giants, each breaking even in six games, were virtually tied for second.

Tight Defense Helps.
As usual, the outstanding defensive play generally enjoyed the most success during the week. The White Sox put together timely hitting with the tightest defensive record in either league for their undefeated run. They allowed a total of 16 enemy runs, less than three per game, while their hitting was considerably below that of the Senators, Yankees or Red Sox.

Offensively, the Pittsburgh Pirates were the week's heavy hitters, with 83 safe blows in six games, while the Senators topped the American League with 80, trailed by the Yankees with 66 and the Red Sox with 61. Run-making honors went to the Senators, who scored 47 runs compared to 40 for the Yanks and 37 for the Cubs.

The Yanks held onto the homer-hitting leadership, connecting for nine circuit blows during the week. The Phillies topped everything in sight, committing only one error in six games.

Standings for the week, showing games won and lost, runs, hits, errors, opponents' runs and fielding percentage, are as follows:

JANE DIERBERGER IS VICTOR IN DISTRICT TENNIS TITLE EVENT

Jane Dierberger, 15-year-old Roosevelt High School player, is the new St. Louis District girls tennis champion as the result of her 6-2, 6-2 victory over Martha Bixby, Mary Institute player, in the final round at Lewis Park yesterday afternoon. Miss Bixby was the defending champion.

Miss Dierberger is the second member of her family to win the district girls tennis honors. Her sister Marjorie, won the championship in 1934 and 1935. The new district champion also holds the municipal girls title which she won on the Kingshighway courts last summer.

Hubbell Allows Only Six Hits to Beat Dizzy Dean

head and Joe Moore combined into the final New York pair of tallies. Dean was serious about his work and appeared to have the usual allotment of "stuff." It just didn't fool the Giants.

Tomorrow, with the Cubs opening a series, either Lon Warneke or Bob Weiland will pitch for the Cardinals, Lee or Shoun being Chicago possibilities.

Dizzy Dean was the hero of one of those rare "pitcher-unassisted" double plays in the second inning. Ott opened with a single, McCarthy, bunting, popped to Dizzy. Dean, one of the smartest pitchers in the game, intentionally muffed the ball. Ott stayed on first and Dizzy rushed over to the bag and tagged him for what really was a force-out. He then touched first before McCarthy arrived.

It's getting so a balk is called on Dizzy every time he pitches. Umpire Sease called one on him in the fourth. It moved McCarthy from second to third, whence he scored on Mancuso's successful "squeeze." The Cards "beefed," but with the usual result.

Ground rules were necessary—two bases in the crowd—as the ropes were stretched from deep left all the way round to deep right a half hour before game time. The attendance did not constitute a record for a single game, however, as on Sept. 15, 1935, the Cards and Giants drew 40,284. The doubleheader record is 45,715, drawn by the Cards and Cubs, July 12, 1931.

The fine turnout proved that, whether or not St. Louis fans have been educated to expect Sunday doubleheaders, they'll attend when there's a real attraction in a single contest.

It looked as though Hubbell might have to retire when Pepper Martin, the very first Cardinal to face him, drove a hard one off his leg. But after taking a bit of time out, "Hub" continued play. The blow certainly didn't hurt his pitching any.

After the game, the fans showed their displeasure at the result by throwing at least a thousand cushions on the first base line. Some are rather silly, aren't they?

Still, the Cards have won 17 of their last 23 games for a percentage of .739, which certainly is not so bad.

COLLEGE TENNIS MATCHES POSTPONED

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, June 28.—Rain today forced postponement of all first-round matches in the Eastern Intercollegiate tennis championships at the Richmond County Country Club, Staten Island. The 87 players, with Gerin Miller, Tulsa (Ok.) University, seeded No. 1, will begin play tomorrow. Gardner Mulloy of Miami is defending titleholder.

ROSS "KAYOES" JACK BURKE IN TITLE CONTEST

By the Associated Press.

NEW ORLEANS, June 28.—Barney Ross, world's welterweight champion, yesterday knocked out Jackie Burke of Ogden, Utah, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round fight at Heinemann baseball park.

Approximately 4000 spectators paid $5000 to see the battle under a sweltering sun. Burke put up a game fight and tried his best at all times, occasionally scoring effective left-hand blows, but was not in the same class with the champion.

For four rounds, Ross pounded Burke with sharp blows and his Burke's mouth bleeding from the first round.

Ross weighed 142 and Burke 150 pounds.

Gets $30,000 Offer.

By the Associated Press.
NEWARK, N. J., June 28.—Babe Culnan, matchmaker for the Dreamland Sporting Club, announced last night that he telegraphed Sam Pian, manager of world's welterweight boxing champion Barney Davis, an offer of $30,000 for Ross to defend his title against Pedro Montanez of Puerto Rico.

The bout would be held here at Ruppert Stadium, home of the Newark Bears baseball club, some time during August and Culnan estimate gate receipts would be close to $90,000.

Ross was given an alternative of 37½ per cent of the gate, and Montanez, who is undefeated in this country, would be guaranteed $10,000 or 15 per cent of the receipts.

The bout would be for 15 rounds.

the season with two mates aboard. Singles by Carey and West, a pass to Davis and an error by Walberg in covering first were other factors in the jamming across of the five runs.

Knickerbocker's third homer of the season came off Walberg in the third, when he took a two-run homer, like Clark, over the screen atop the left field wall.

Lefty Fred Ostermueler relieved Walberg with two gone in the fifth and the Browns made only one run off Davis, in the seventh, on a single by Davis, a pass and a boot by Higgins at third on Bell's grounder.

Knott Pounded Early.
The Sox got to Jack Knott for four runs in the first inning when Mills, Cronin and McNair singled. Higgins tripled and Fox walked. They got two more in their second on three singles and a wide throw to second by Davis. After Knott walked lead-off man Higgins in the third, Bill Trotter pitched for the Browns and the Sox made two off him in that frame with McNair and Mills singling.

Trotter yielded two more in the fourth on a hapman double, a walk, singles by Fox and Higgins and a wild Cliff peg. Fox's infield roller in the sixth started a move which brought the Sox their eleventh run.

CORRAY'S COLUMN

no foolin' about it. It was a workmanlike job.

The Number Three man, John Henry Lewis was beaten by Brad-dock who in turn was knocked out by Louis, who was flattened by Schmeling, who was knocked stiff by Earl!

What a rating!

But that's only part of it. Look who follows: We have "Bicycle" Bob Pastor who ran so fast and far to keep away from Louis; Tommy Farr of England, who outpointed but failed to hurt the relic of what once was Max Baer; Natie Mann, a rough and tough preliminary fighter; Arturo Godoy, who was busted and shoved around by Tony Galento in a preliminary to the Brad-dock fight; and Al McCoy, who rates slightly better than Jack Doyle, who is famed for his tenor singing, if not for fighting.

The array of heavies, it seems to contain no serious white hope challenger for the title-holders. If Max who is now 32 and likely to be kept out of a title match for at least another year, cat, whip Louis again, if and when they meet, the outlook for a return to Caucasian championship leadership is remote.

Is Boxing Slipping?
The natural thought is that boxing is slipping as to the quality of fighters now coming up. Comparisons with other days are invited.

And if you delve into this phase of the situation you may meet with another surprise. It is that some of the idols of the past seem to have felt of clay. If you want to be real mean about it you can view some of the earlier heroes about as follows:

James J. Corbett, first man to win the title with gloves. He occupies a niche in the all time Hall of Fame. But after all, he defeated only a 34-year-old bloated, whisky drinker, who hadn't fought for several years—John L. Sullivan. And he was knocked out by a middleweight, Bob Fitzsimmons.

Bob Fitzsimmons—A middleweight who gained his title from a powderpuff puncher, Corbett. He also beat Peter Maher, a greatly overrated Irishman, and Tom Sharkey, after Jeffries beat the Sailor to pulp.

James J. Jeffries—Rated the greatest fighter of all time, who won his title from a 37-year-old middleweight whose hands were chalk-brittle, Bob Fitzsimmons.

Jack Johnson—Gained his title from Tommy Burns who was frequently referred to as the "chess champion" of his day and over whom Johnson had a big weight advantage.

Jess Willard—Beat an aged Negro who was more than 25 pounds overweight (Jack Johnson) in a bout which Johnson himself de-clared was a real sale of his title for $30,000.

Jack Dempsey—Won his crown from a 33-year-old fat, slow, fighter (Jess Willard) who had fought only one 10-round, no-decision bout in more than four years.

Gene Tunney—Won his title from Dempsey, after Jack had been idle for three years and been harassed by law suits and other troubles. In a later fight Dempsey had Tunney on the floor for 14 seconds but was not given the victory.

And so forth. If you want to be pessimistic about the fight game you can make some sort of case against almost any hero.

So perhaps the fighters of today are not so hopeless as they seem; and our Joe Louis may turn out to be one of the super-men of all time.

Incredible, But True.
If actual fighting makes a boxer great, Joe Louis ought to be a better man than the all-time hero James J. Jeffries.

Joe, in his career, has fought 88 fights, amateur and professional. Of these he won 71 by knockouts.

Beside this record, Jeffries is positively puny. The mighty Jeff, believe it or not, fought only 21 fights in his entire career, his record shows.

It makes one wonder, sometimes, if after all our idols of other days were really the super-men we rated them.

British Soccer Team Wins 11th Victory in U. S.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—The Charlton Athletics, touring English soccer team, blanked an all-star New York eleven, 4-0, yesterday to mark up the eleventh straight victory of its North American tour.

The Londoners scored their first goal through Tadman, outside left, assisted by Wilkinson, outside right, with five minutes to go in the first half. They found their stride in the second half and repeatedly forced Stan Chesney, New York goal custodian, to show great agility in clearing his lines.

Five minutes before the end of the game Boulter, English inside left, booted in Charlton's fourth and final goal unassisted.

The lineup was as follows:
CHARLTON—Goal, Bartram; backs—Turner (captain) and Cann; halfbacks—Jobling, Oakes and Ford; forwards—Tadman, Boulter, Welsh, Robinson and Wilkinson.

NEW YORK—Goal—Chesney; backs—Moorhouse (captain) and Kelso; halfbacks—Martiniell, Briscoe and Currie; forwards—Sheppell, Ryan, Ernst, Dick and Moniz.

Braddock Pays Garden Loan With Interest

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—JAMES J. BRADDOCK, De-throned heavyweight king, who couldn't have made change for a 25-cent piece two years ago, today nonchalantly handed Madison Square Garden a certified check for $16,248.23.

This sum covered $15,000 he had been advanced by the Garden, plus $972.16 interest and $276.07 for unpaid tickets.

Held Tries in Strutch.
Schumacher, who in two previous Trans-Mississippi tournaments did not go beyond the second round, seemed nervous this morning, while Held was shooting the same cool "killer type" golf that proved too much for Dawson, Gus Moreland, former champion from Peoria, Ill., and others of Held's vanquished opponents.

The Missourian, who won the title in 1923 and 1926, said he became tired in the later stages of the match and "my swings weren't staying in the groove."

"But you've just got to take your licking when your opponent sticks them in there the way Don was at the last," he smiled.

Held paid tribute to his "champion manager," his twin brother, Charles Held, a professional golfer, who carried the runner-up's bag throughout the tournament.

TOLEDO, O., June 28.—A million dollars' worth of trotters and pacers were all set today to "shoot" at $25,000 in purses this week as the forty-fourth consecutive Grand Circuit season gets under way tonight and runs through Saturday. All but Saturday's races will be held under flood lights.

About 500 of the country's outstanding harness horses are quartered at the Fort Miami track for the inaugural meeting of the "Roaring Grand."

Tonight's program consists of a $1000 stake for three-year-old trotters, a $1500 stake for free-for-all pacers, a 17-class pace and handicap trot.

Holding the spotlight is the $4000 Matron Stake for trotters which will be run off Thursday night, of which the season's first view of the candidates who will battle it out at Goschen, N. Y., in the Hambletonian, the "Kentucky Derby" of the harness sport.

SCHUMACHER RALLIES ON LAST NINE TO WIN T-M TITLE

DALLAS PLAYER BEATS ED HELD BY 1 UP AFTER BEING 4 DOWN

New Golf Champion Scores Four Birdies on the Final Nine to Gain the Victory.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, June 28.—Don Schumacher, golfing "freshman" from Dallas, is 1937 Trans-Mississippi champion today because he knows how to pick the spots for his hot-test shots.

He won the title with one of the gamest finishes the 37-year-old meet has seen, beating Eddie Held, 34-year-old St. Louis veteran, 1 up in a 36-hole battle yesterday that grew more exciting the farther it went.

Schumacher, 21, former Texas champion, takes home with him this week the championship cup John Dawson of Chicago won last year. Dawson lost to Held, twice former champion, in the semifinals Saturday. Held was 4 up after the morning round.

Schumacher fired four birdies for a two-under-par 35 on the home stretch line, and he couldn't have picked a better time. Held was getting weary, and his irons were losing their accuracy.

Five Some More Birdies.
The new champion hit the post-age stamp green of the 205-yard thirteenth with a two-iron shot. He won that hole with a birdie 2, but went two down again to Held's par 4 on the 437-yard thirteenth.

Just in time, on the thirty-third green, Schumacher regained his putting magic, dropping a 25-footer for another birdie that left Held only 1 up.

Then Schumacher smacked the best shot of the day to overhaul his foe at last. His tee shot landed in mud, Don came out with a five-iron shot, and dropped the putt for a birdie 3. Held took a par.

On the long thirty-fifth, each carded 6's. On the thirty-sixth, Held couldn't match Schumacher's iron to the green. He tried for a long putt, missed—and shook hands with the victor.

Schumacher finished four over par for his day's work, and Held was 5 over.

Held tries in stretch.
Schumacher, who in two previous Trans-Mississippi tournaments did not go beyond the second round, seemed nervous this morning, while Held was shooting the same cool "killer type" golf that proved too much for Dawson, Gus Morera, former champion from Peoria, Ill., and others of Held's vanquished opponents.

The Missourian, who won the title in 1923 and 1928, said he became tired in the later stages of the match and "my swings weren't staying in the groove."

"But you've just got to take your licks when your opponent sticks them in there the way Don was at the last," he smiled.

Held paid tribute to his "champion manager," his twin brother, Charles Held, a professional golfer, who carried the runner-up's bag throughout the tournament.

The cards:
MORNING.
Out—Par — 444 433 434—35
Held — 444 433 435—34

CHICAGO, June 28.—Let the arguments now begin!

For here, fans, is the hand-picked squad which will represent the American League against the National League's best in the fifth annual all-star game at Washington's Griffith Stadium, home of the Senators, July 7.

Selected by Manager Joe McCarthy of the world champion New York Yankees, who will pilot the American League team by virtue of having led his club to its league title last year, and whose picks were based on suggestions from the other seven managers, the squad lines up thus:

A notable absentee will be Ben Chapman of Boston, who played in each of the previous games. As benefits their position as champions of the baseball world, the Yankees have five men on the squad of 23, with Detroit and Boston runners-up at four each, Cleveland and St. Louis two each, and Philadelphia one, giving every club representation.

McCarthy's organization for the big one-day stand will be rounded out by Art Fletcher of the Yankees, and Del Baker of Detroit, coaches; Dave Keefe, Philadelphia, batting practice pitcher; John Schulte of the Yankees, bullpen catcher, and Mike Martin of Washington, as trainer.

Outfielders—Karl Averill, Cleveland; Roy (Beau) Bell, St. Louis; Rower Cramer, Boston; Joe DiMaggio, New York; Wally Moses, Philadelphia, and Gerald Walker, Detroit.

Five of these stalwarts, Gehrig, Gomez, Dickey, Fox, and Gehring, have been members of every American League squad since the all-star game was inaugurated in 1933 at Chicago. Nine others, Grove, Cramer, Cronin, Harder, Averill, the Ferrell brothers, Meyer and DiMaggio, have seen action in baseball's prime mid-summer event.

The remaining nine rank as "rookies" in this kind of baseball warfare.

Some Stars Are Omitted.
In collecting a force for making the junior circuit's bid to resume domination over the older league, interrupted for the only time last year when the Nationals won, 4 to 3, at Boston, McCarthy will have at his disposal four right-handed hurlers, Harder, Wes Ferrell, Bridges and Stratton. Grove and Gomez will take care of the south-paw pitching. There may be arguments over the absence of Detroit's Roxie Lawson, Red Ruffing and Monte Pearson of the Yankees, or Buck Newsom of Boston, among others.

In the catching department, all three nominees are battling around 290. Although a member of each of the four previous squads, Dickey did not work at Chicago in 1933 or at Cleveland in 1935. Rick Ferrell caught the whole 1933 game in which Babe Ruth's homer gave the Americans a 4 to 2 triumph. Sewell's hating of pitchers has been given a big share of the credit in the White Sox' rise in fortunes, so there appears to be little argument over the selections.

Gehrig, leading the league in batting with an average around .350, rates first choice for first base, although Greenberg is the head man in scoring, along with hitting .350. Fox, a first baseman by trade, never has played that position in the all-star game, but has operated as a third baseman in three games. There will be plenty of competition for the third base post, however, with Cliff and Rolfe on the job, and Fox may watch the game as he did in 1933.

Gehring, still the league's top second baseman, has said he would rather not play because of an injury, which may give Meyer, the 1935 league batting champion, employment. Cronin, having one of his biggest seasons at bat with a .350 mark, is the only shortstop listed, McCarthy and the other managers having passed up Luke Appling of the White Sox, the major league batting champion last year. Which may be used for argument purposes.

Cliff, batting better than .300, apparently has an edge over Rolfe with his 270-odd average. The outfielder list includes three right-handed batters, Bell, DiMaggio and Walker, and three left-handed sluggers, Averill, Cramer and Moses. None, however, is a left fielder by trade. Averill, Cramer and DiMaggio operating in center and the other trio in right. All are .300 or better hitters, with Walker and Bell boasting better than .350 marks.

A notable absentee will be Ben Chapman of Boston, who played in each of the previous games. As benefits their position as champions of the baseball world, the Yankees have five men on the squad of 23, with Detroit and Boston runners-up at four each, Cleveland and St. Louis two each, and Philadelphia one, giving every club representation.

HENDRIX WINS FROM HUNT IN SINGLES FINAL AT TRIPLE A.

By Davison Ohear.

Arthur Hendrix, Lakeland (Fla.) player is the first Triple A Club open tennis champion as the result of his victory over Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, in the final of the singles, played yesterday afternoon. The two players battled for two hours and thirty-five minutes before Hendrix won, 6-2, 1-6, 6-4, 4-6, 9-7.

Beginning with the third set, there was very little difference between the players until the fifth and final set. Hendrix ran up a 5 to 3 game lead in the final set, and his good service and forcing shots brought the score to 5-all. Hendrix played steadily in the next two games, which he won to capture the set, 7-5, and the match. Hunt counted only one point in the last two games.

For the first two sets of the match, the players fought hard for every point. During the remainder of the match the play was not quite as fast. It was only a question as to which player was the most accurate until the final two games.

Hunt appeared to have the best service of the two players. Hendrix excelled on passing shots which aided him in winning necessary points. In the fourth and fifth sets Hendrix showed several outstanding shots when they were clear over the court and hitting the ball way out of court. This display was due to his own errors and not to any bad decisions on the part of officials.

As a contrast Hunt merely talked to his opponent, who made errors. Hunt uses one ball at a time in serving and quite often makes backhand shots with both hands somewhat like Vivian McGrath of the Australian Davis Cup team.

Hunt and Hendrix annexed the men's doubles title when they defeated Teddy Eggmann and Frank Thompson, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3, in the final round which was played after the singles. The locals led 3 to 1 in the third set but found the pace too fast during the remainder of the match.

Eggmann and Thompson gained the final by defeating Karl Hodge and McNeill Smith, 6-1, 6-4, in a semifinal match yesterday morning. This match was replayed after darkness stopped the first match Saturday.

In winning the singles title, Hendrix obtained the first leg on the new trophy presented by Sidney Smith. The entry in the singles showed a total of 91 players, while the committee limited the men's doubles to 16 teams.

Quincy led during the early part of the race, but Western's steady rowing and superior power at the finish enabled it to finish an easy victory by a full length.

Gen. Goering Tells World
C. OF C. That Nation's Economic Status Is "Intolerable."

NAZIS ALSO ASK FOR SHARE OF MARKETS

Air Minister Stresses Need for Raw Materials and Defends Rearmament Program.

By the Associated Press.
BERLIN, June 28.—Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, virtual dictator of Nazi Germany's four-year plan for self sufficiency, and Dr.
Hjalmar Schacht, economic minister, demanded today a share for Germany in the world's raw materials and world trade and the return of war-lost colonies. They addressed the 1500 delegates from 40 countries to the International Chamber of Commerce, which opened its convention at Berlin's famous Charlottenburg Opera House.

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler led the applause from the President's box. He sat flanked by Goering and by the Chamber of Commerce's world president, F. H. Fentener van Vilssingen of the Netherlands.

Last night, at Wurzberg, Hitler had his own say on the Reich's shortage of raw materials. Then he declared Germany would welcome an insurgent victory in Spain because, "as it is generally known, we try to buy ores everywhere."
Spain is rich in the minerals that Germany needs.

Address by Goering.
It was Goering who sounded the Nazi colony keynote, with the declaration it was an "intolerable state of affairs for a nationally conscious people that wishes to live on the more or less willing assistance of others." He spoke of Nazidom's determination to be self-sufficient just 15 years to the day since the formal signing of the Treaty of Versailles stripped Germany of its colonial empire after the World War.

Goering told the Chamber of Commerce, "You may be sure Germany will continue to bring up the colonial problem until its urgent and legitimate desires regarding colonies are fulfilled."

Furthermore, said Goering,
"Germany is working with all its energy on the undertaking known as the four-year plan."
"Just as Germany must be able finally to rely on its own strength —and on that alone—to defend its territory, so must it be self supporting economically if it is to preserve its independence, honor and international prestige."

Rearmament Defended.
Goering defended Germany's huge rearmament program with its attendant needs for raw materials as a necessity. "When it proved impossible to induce other countries to follow the German example and disarm, Germany, in order to secure full equality of rights, had no other choice than to rearm," he said. However, he added: "As far as it depends on Germany there will not be another war."

After praising Nazi achievements, Goering turned to world trade, telling the assembly:
"In National Socialist Germany the term world trade is not taken as meaning international economic interdependence in itself. Their national patrimony of each people and every national policy begins at home. On the other hand, there can be no doubt but that consistent application of the principle of economic self-sufficiency of all nations would, in the long run, be detrimental to all peoples."

Dr. Schacht's Plea for Trade.
Dr. Schacht emphasized his Government's new bid for trade.
"You'll have to consider whether it is a real service to peace," he said, "if it is possible to open or close great sources of raw materials to any nation purely for political purposes."

"If you secure each nation its food and employment by means of honest money and honest division of raw materials then you will automatically put an end to economic nationalism and all so-called archaic endeavors."

Hitler, addressing the Nazi party rally at Wurzberg, had stressed his desire to strengthen international trade relations. Financial circles also pointed out negotiations for a French-German trade pact are nearing a successful conclusion.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, June 28.—Gen. German Veterans Applaud British Friendship Plea

Cheer for King George VI Raised at Rally After Two English Speakers Make Unscheduled Appearance.

By the Associated Press. CASSEL, Germany, June 28.—England stole the show at a rally of 150,000 German war veterans yesterday when two British speakers made impassioned pleas for understanding between Britain and Germany. Under the influence of their appeal, the big open air gathering closed with cheers for King George VI—an unusual proceeding in Germany, where, since the consolidation of Nazi power, all public demonstrations regularly close with cheers for Adolf Hitler only. No foreigner was scheduled to speak at the rally, at which the principal oration was by Heinrich Himmler, Reich leader of the SS, or Hitler's guard troops. However, immediately after the officially approved program was finished and before the veterans could disperse, their leader, Col. Reinhard, announced that two British guests would speak.

Deep Respect for German Fighters. They were Col. George A. Crossfield, representing the British Legion, and Capt. Roy Fyers, personal Adjutant of the Duke of Connaught. Col. Crossfield emphasized that, regardless of any differences between the two nations, "your comrades of the British Legion have the deepest respect for the German front fighters."

cannot, however, be overcome by restriction of production, but must, on the contrary, be surmounted by a constant increase in production and consumption of goods by the peoples of the world," he said. Shortening of work hours, he declared, "may go too far," although in the past human labor has been exploited in an intolerable manner.

Fentener Van Blissingen, president of the international body, paid tribute to the United States as having helped world trade immeasurably by its 16 commercial treaties with other nations. He cited American policy as one of the reasons for optimism about the world business outlook.

Van Blissingen and Thomas J. Watson of New York were understood to have been singled out by Hitler as among the first to receive the newly created Order of the Eagle for their efforts in promoting international trade. Watson is the president-elect of the international chamber.

RALPH E. JENNEY APPROVED FOR U. S. JUDGE IN CALIFORNIA
Senate Judiciary Committee Also Passes Favorably on Several Other Nominations.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Senate Judiciary Committee approved today the nomination of Ralph E. Jenney, as United States Judge for the Southern District of California.

The committee also approved the following nominations: Frank L. Middleton, Elko, Nev., to be United States Marshal for Nevada; Louis Le Baron, to be first Judge of the Circuit Court, First Circuit, Hawaii; Thomas J. Morrissey, to be United States Attorney for Colorado; W. Joe Ballard, to be Marshal for the Western District of Oklahoma; and William J. Holzheim, to be United States Attorney, Division 1, Alaska.

British veterans, he said, agree with German veterans that "every youth must be taught above all to love his own country and to defend it with his life—but also that this is no reason for hating other countries."

Capt. Fyers announced he brought by special command of the Duke of Connaught a decoration for the flag of the Duke's old German regiment—the Zeithen Hussars. When the decoration was affixed to the regimental standard the veterans shouted their approval.

Italian Delegation Present. Col. Reinhard led the 150,000 in cheers for Britain's King. This unscheduled demonstration of Anglo-German friendship occurred in the presence of a delegation of Italian war veterans attending the rally as guests.

The German veterans' rally, an annual affair, was significant this year because Himmler took part for the first time and stressed the close relation between his SS and the veterans and between both of them and the Reich's army.

A battalion of the SS and units of the army, navy and air force took part in the rally. The aged Field Marshal, August von Mackensen, successful war-time leader on Germany's eastern fronts, received a special ovation as he reviewed the veterans and the troops.

LORDS UPHOLD $10,000 AWARD TO NURSE AGAINST BARONET Sustain Contention Marriage Promise Made Before Divorce Is Absolute Is Valid.

LONDON, June 28.—A $10,000 breach of promise award to a nurse, against Sir Anthony Mildmay, was upheld today by the House of Lords.

In a 3-2 decision, five law lords sustained the contention of Miss Emily Fender that a marriage promise was binding even though made before a divorce decree had been made absolute. It was the Lords' first official consideration of such matters.

The case came before the Lords on appeal. Miss Fender filed her suit in May, 1935. Mildmay, 42-year-old baronet, admitted the marriage promise but his counsel argued it was not binding because his divorce from his first wife, Lady Violet, then had not become absolute. He was remarried in 1934.

A jury awarded Miss Fender $10,000, but Justice Hawke, who granted Wallis Warfield Simpson a divorce nisi from Ernest Simpson at Ipswich last October, overruled the award.

Miss Fender took the case to the Court of Appeal, but was unsuccessful. In April she appealed to the House of Lords.

TURKISH OFFICIALS AT SMYRNA ARREST FOREIGN OIL DEALERS

American, Two Others Later Freed; Refused to Sell at Prices Set by Government.

By the Associated Press. SMYRNA, Turkey, June 28.—The managers of Smyrna branches of three foreign oil companies were arrested yesterday because they suspended sales rather than accept an officially ordered price reduction on gasoline and oil.

Manager Drake of the American Socomey-Vacuum Oil Co. and managers for the British Shell and Romanian Steaua companies later were released, but officials said they must stand trial. Charges probably will be disorganizing the city's turbulent public order. No date for the trials has been set.

The foreign oil men said the official prices are 33 per cent below the previous quotations for petroleum products. Reports received here indicated agents of foreign oil companies at Ankara, the capital, were in similar trouble with the Turkish authorities.

Zionist Leader Says English Have Failed to Protect Jews in Holy Land.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 28.—American Jewish leaders who will select delegates to the International Assembly of the World Zionist movement today considered criticism directed at Great Britain's administration of Palestine.

The criticism was voiced by Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland, who declared Jews must not permit themselves to be the victims of "international gangsterism and political racketeering."

Rabbi Silver charged the British Government with failure to carry out its pledges to the Jewish people in the re-establishment of the Jewish National Home in Palestine.

"The successive shrinking of the Jewish homeland in order to satisfy the Arab opposition will not only destroy the idea of the Jewish homeland but will not satisfy the Arabs," he declared.

Dr. Silver warned the British Government the Jewish people would not be intimidated by any use of force, asserting that "force has never intimidated a Jew."

PARIS MERCHANTS TO CLOSE STORES JULY 3 AS PROTEST

By the Associated Press. PARIS, June 28.—All retail merchants in the Paris area decided today to close their stores July 3 in sympathy with a planned shutdown by hotel, cafe and restaurant owners throughout the nation.

The retailers' decision threatened to create new obstacles for Georges Bonnet, Finance Minister in the new French Government, who came back from the United States today to seek a balanced budget to remedy France's financial ills.

Representatives of the merchants said their lockout was in protest against "bad application" of the 40-hour week to their businesses as well as against the failure of Parliament to vote laws for their benefit.

U. S. ENDING FISCAL YEAR WITH 36-BILLION DEBT

Expected Deficit for Period $2,670,000,000—Economy Effort to Fall $200,000,000 Short of Goal.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Treasury figures indicated today that the administration's effort to cut expenditures for the fiscal year ending Wednesday would fall about $200,000,000 short of its goal.

When President Roosevelt instructed all departments last April to reduce expenses sharply, he revised his budget to a figure $285,000,000 under the January forecast. Treasury reports showed, however, that expenditures from last July 1 through June 24 were $7,883,000,000, compared with a revised budget of $7,781,000,000.

Thus the year's spending already has gone $102,000,000 above the revised estimate. At the current rate it will increase another $100,000,000 or more by Wednesday, the end of the fiscal year.

Figures on Revenue. While expenditures have not been kept within the April figure, revenue has been above estimates made at that time. Receipts were $5,213,000,000 through June 24, and are expected by Treasury officials to reach about $5,280,000,000 by Wednesday, or $66,000,000 over the revised estimate. This figure would be $550,000,000 under the January estimate.

Officials attributed the decline under original estimates to failure of income tax receipts to meet expectations, litigation tying up rail retirement and windfall tax collections and a sharp drop in expected gift tax revenue.

On the basis of these estimates, this year's deficit would total about $2,670,000,000, exclusive of debt retirement, compared with a revised estimate of $2,557,000,000 and an original estimate of $2,248,000,000. That deficit would send the public debt to about $36,300,000,000.

Bills for Further Spending. Approach of the fiscal year's end focused attention also on plans for next year's spending, with congressional leaders trying to hurry appropriation bills to passage before the Wednesday deadline.

Among the measures awaiting final action is the $1,500,000,000 relief bill, which also contains a two-year extension of P. W. A. otherwise scheduled to expire Wednesday.

Besides the relief bill, appropriations measures not yet approved include those for the military and non-military establishments of the War Department, the interior bill and the agriculture and District of Columbia supply measures.

RAILROAD RETIREMENT TAXES

Senate Committee Favorably Reported Bill to Finance Measure.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Senate Finance Committee today reported approval of special taxes on railroads and their workers to finance the Revised Railroad Retirement Act.

The measure, passed last week by the House, would impose graduated levies on payrolls, shared equally by the roads and employees, starting at 5 1/2 per cent for three years and increasing to 7 1/2 per cent by 1949. Separate legislation to revise the 1935 retirement act was signed last week by President Roosevelt.

GEORGES BONNET TAKES FISCAL POST IN FRANCE

Former Ambassador to U. S. Arrives in Paris on Special Train.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, June 28.—Georges Bonnet, Finance Minister in the new French Government, came back from the United States today to seek a balanced budget.

Bonnet was recalled from his post as Ambassador at Washington as soon as the new Cabinet of Camille Chautemps was formed. The second People's Front Government hopes he will solve the financial crisis.

He was called immediately to see Chautemps and then take his financial proposals before a full Cabinet meeting. A special train took him to Paris after he landed at Cherbourg from the liner Queen Mary.

On the eve of Bonnet's arrival, his under-secretary, Rene Brunet, announced his goal was a balanced budget. He said the first step—balancing the ordinary budget—could be taken this year.

Vincent Auriol, the retired Finance Minister, estimated the ordinary budget deficit at 4,600,000,000 francs ($200,000,000). The combined Treasury deficit for both the ordinary and extraordinary budgets has been estimated at $6,127,000,000 francs ($1,600,000,000).

That total, Brunet said, can be balanced within three years. The regular budget of about $2,211,000,000 does not include the extraordinary expenses, most of which are for defense.

Bonnet was expected to present his declaration of policy to Parliament tomorrow along with projects to increase taxation and reduce expenditures.

As Bonnet boarded the special train he told interviewers he was "more than ever convinced of the necessity for French-American cooperation." He was full of enthusiasm for the United States and said, "Frankly, I would have preferred to stay there."

Chautemps, meanwhile, failed to swerve hotel and cafe owners from their decision to shut down Saturday in protest against nationwide application of the 40-hour week. They agreed, however, to confer again Thursday.

To Try New York-to-Rome Flight. By the Associated Press. OAKLAND, Cal., June 28.—R. T. Merrill and Jack Lambie said today they would attempt another trans-Atlantic flight, this time New York to Rome. The aviators, who recently flew round trip to England, expect to take off in about three weeks.

STEEL OUTPUT

Rate of 75.0 Per Cent Is Forecast for This Week by Institute.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Operations in the steel industry for the current week declined 3 of a point to 75.0 per cent of capacity, compared with 75.9 per cent last week, the American Iron & Steel Institute estimated today.

A spokesman for the institute said the back-to-work movement at some plants which had been affected by strikes was insufficient to offset shut-downs elsewhere for vacation periods in some cases for the Fourth of July holiday.

VANDENBERG LISTS 3 PROPOSALS FOR INDUSTRIAL PEACE

Wants Wagner Act Amended to Protect Rights of 'Minority Employees, Employer and Public.'

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Senator Vandenberg (Rep.), Michigan, proposed three amendments to the National Labor Relations Act yesterday to insure "industrial peace" and protect the rights of "minority employees, the employer and the public."

The amendments would broaden the rights of employers under the Wagner Act, forbid "unfair practices" by labor unions—including sit-down strikes—and provide severe penalties for unions which violated contracts with employers.

The aim, Vandenberg asserted, is to "produce more effective industrial peace and prosperity for labor and everyone else."

"I believe that it is only in some such fashion that legitimate labor organization can protect itself against excesses from within and reprisals from without," he declared. "There are four parties to a collective bargaining dispute under the Wagner Act—the majority employees, the minority employees, the employer and the public. The Wagner Act ably defends the first. It seems to me that it now must acknowledge the rights of the other three."

His Proposed Amendments.

His amendments would: Authorize the employer to appeal to the National Labor Relations Board for an election to determine the representatives of his employees. Under the present law, only the employees can demand an election.

Require that agreements "resulting voluntarily from collective bargaining" be set down in writing, and permit strikes only when called by a majority vote of all employees. If any group of employees broke a contract and refused to correct it upon order of the Labor Board, the board would be empowered to suspend its right of representation.

Establish a "fair practice code" for labor, which would prohibit compulsory political assessments on union members and require that all union officers, agents and representatives be United States citizens.

Would Forbid Union Coercion. The code also would forbid the coercion of workers to make them join unions. It would prohibit damage to property, strikes intended to force any person to violate a contract or Federal laws, and violation of "any person's rights in real or personal property."

"Moderate protections now may prevent radical restraints later," the Michigan Senator said. "I believe that labor is entitled to a constantly broadening share in the fruits of its own production; but it will do labor no good to achieve these benefits if a profitable economy and an orderly society in which to enjoy them is jeopardized or destroyed."

GOES TO HIS DEATH SINGING

Negro Electrocuted for Murder of Matron at College.

By the Associated Press.

BELLEFOUNTE, Pa., June 28.—Roy Crittendon, Negro, sang a hymn as he went to his death in the electric chair early today for the murder of Mrs. Mary Ginder, matron of Haverford College, during the 1935 Christmas holiday season. He began singing as he started the march to the death house at Rockview penitentiary and continued until Robert Elliott, the executioner, pulled the switch.

Crittendon, a former dishwasher at the college, was convicted of shooting Mrs. Ginder at a family reunion. He said he blamed her for the loss of his job.

IN GRANDMA'S DAY AND OURS

Not so many years ago, about the only outlet for the butter, eggs and poultry produced in this region was the local grocery store, where they were traded for flour, sugar and other foods needed by the family. Most of the cash required for other farm purchases had to come from other crops.

Today, Swift & Company's nationwide marketing system provides local producers with a ready cash outlet for their poultry, eggs and butterfat, and greatly increases their cash income. Last year, more than $9,000,000 was paid to local producers of butterfat, poultry and eggs by the Swift plant in National Stock Yards, and also seventeen dairy and poultry plants in this territory.

Swift & Company's daily cash payments to local dairymen and poultrymen are helping to build the dairy and poultry industries throughout this region. The near and distant markets which the company is bringing to the very door-steps of these producers provide them with constant outlets and regular sources of cash income every working day, week, and month of the year.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—By BOB BURNS

THERE'S no question in my mind but that the greatest thing a man can have is the comfortin' influence of a good wife but I want to tell you, when a wife gets excited about somethin', it's mighty nice to have a husband that can comfort her with his calm reasoning. My Aunt Dutty was a high-strung, sensitive woman and use'ta worry so much about what people said about her. One night when Uncle Beany came home, he found Aunt

Dutty pacin' the floor, almost in hysterics and Uncle Beany says, "What in the world is the matter now?" and Aunt Dutty said, "I just heard that the lady next door said that I was a brainless chatterbox!" Uncle Beany says, "Well now, don't you pay any attention to anything that woman says—she is just a parrot—she only repeats what everybody else in town says." (Copyright, 1937.)

Suggests Hay Fever Victims Pick Resorts

By Logan Clendening, M. D.

THE experienced old stager at hay fever no longer indulges in the fond hope that he is going to be free from symptoms this year. He knows he is going to get it whether it is a mild season or a severe one. He is on the spot, and he makes preparations accordingly, beginning about now.

One kind of preparation is for a vacation. The fall hay fever will start about Aug. 15, when the ragweed begins to cast its light yellow pollen on the air. It isn't very thick until about Aug. 20, so if you plan your vacation then you will not have much discomfort. It's a little tough to have to go away just when the other vacationists are coming back, but the fall is really a beautiful month at American resorts, and in the workaday part of the country it may be one of the hottest months of the summer, so the too early returning vacationist may spoil his outing.

An evaluation of the fall hay fever resorts has been made which allows any hay fever candidate to choose his spot. This is done by exposing plates with a thin layer of agar jelly on the bottom to the air so as to estimate the amount of pollen present from day to day. From this, the concentration of pollen through the season in any given place, and the number of days the pollen is present during the season, can be charted.

The places where no ragweed pollen fell at all—which had no hay fever during the season—were Phoenix, Ariz.; Sacramento and Los Angeles in California; Reno, Nev.; Portland, Ore.; Amarillo and El Paso, Tex.; Seattle and Spokane, Wash.; Father Point, Quebec; Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, and Mexico City.

Places which had very few hay fever days, were (the figures in parenthesis after city's name indicate the number of days): Boise, Idaho, (3); Bar Harbor, Me., (5); and Maine generally about the same; Isle Royale, Mich., (1); Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., (3); Towson, Minn., (4); Biloxi, Miss., (4); Miles City, Mont., (2); Bethlehem, N. H., (3); Rosewell, N. M., (2); Lake Placid and Saranac Lake, N. Y., (3); Moberg, S. D., (7); Knoxville, Tenn., (8); Salt Lake City, Utah, (1); Eagle River, Wis., (3); all parts of Ontario, (3 to 8).

The plague spots for hay fever are Peoria; Springfield, Ill.; Indianapolis, Wichita, Kansas City, St. Louis, Omaha, Buffalo, Toledo, Dallas and Milwaukee.

Peoria, for instance, has 38 days of hay fever, a maximum atmospheric contamination of 117, and average seasonal total of 12,773. Compare with New York, which shows a 20-day season, a maximum atmospheric contamination of 264, and an average seasonal total of 1975. The New York sensitive to ragweed pollen has about five to 10 times as easy a time as his fellow sufferer in Peoria. Other figures show St. Louis with a 36-day season, a maximum of 16,235 and an average seasonal total of 8,225. Boston has a 10-day season, a maximum of 140, and an average seasonal total of 790.

A pinch of baking powder added to the meat sauce will make it delightfully light.

Nail-Biting of Children Hard Habit to Cure

Worry and Undernourishment Are Two Causes of This Harmful Practice.

By Angelo Patri

NAIL-BITING is a mean habit for a child to suffer under, and a very difficult one to remedy. Somehow, it gets in down deep and no matter what rewards and punishments are used to destroy it, back it comes at the very first moment of abstraction.

The chewed finger ends are painful. That calls the child's attention to them and once more the abused finger tips go into the mouth for comfort and consolation, and stay there until some irritated grown-up calls out, "Take your fingers out of your mouth. Your hands are a disgrace. How you can bear them is beyond me."

The habit makes keeping the hands in good condition a most trying and difficult task. Bitten finger ends become calloused, or ragged or hang-nails. The finger ends on whose sensitivity a keen sense of touch depends, become dull and clumsy. All forms of hand work suffers. The effect of all this on the child is to make him fearful, shy and backward. He knows his drawing and writing are not as good as they ought to be, and he knows, too, that his hands show to a disadvantage beside those of the other children. It is a bad business, but what can we do about it?

First, we can know that the children who bite their nails are suffering from some unbusiness in body and mind. We must bend our efforts toward finding what causes this uneasiness, this worry and discomfort, instead of trying to discipline or bribe the child into saving his nails. A healthy child, healthy in body and in mind, rarely has this habit. Build up the health of the nail-biter and the habit will be materially reduced. At least it will be reduced to the place where the conscious mind can take some control of it.

Worry is at the root of much of this trouble. The mind begins to worry, and the discomfort this sets up all over the body of the child sends his hands to his mouth for comfort. That has been my experience with many of the children so afflicted. When their minds can be assured, the habit can be checked.

Malnutrition is another cause of the trouble. The undernourished child is likely to bite his nails and chew his fingers. His lowered vitality causes bodily discomfort. That in turn creates worry, and the habit grows strong. Put such a child in the care of a specialist who understands with his mind and begins to take on weight, begins to play happily, and ceases to bite his nails, habitually. Now and then, when the ghost rises, he will take a nibble.

Give extra care to bitten nails. Wash the hands with warm water and a pleasant soap. Rub them, especially the finger tips, with some soothing ointment like cold cream, warm olive oil, whatever comforts the tingling finger-ends. Remove all ragged edges, all dry skin. Polish the nails to a high polish because teeth dislike polished nails, and that dislike calls the child's conscious mind to the state of affairs.

Scolding and nagging won't help. Search for the root of the trouble and do what is possible to remove it. Care for the finger-ends. In time, if you persist, and try to help intelligently, the child will win his freedom. He would be free if he could right now.

"AS A CHILD, I ALWAYS WANTED TO SING."

"I'D LIKE TO BE A COLONEL IN THE MARINE CORPS."

The SINGING MARINE

Handsome Wilbur Evans, Muni Opera's New Baritone, Has the Physique of a Gable and Manners of a Menjou—Favorite Dish Is Spaghetti, but He Watches His Diet.

By Virginia Irwin

besides entertaining his brother Marines, Wilbur hopes to scare up a few chess games. He doesn't take his chess seriously, he insists, but he's willing to take on anybody who will sit under a tree with him and engage in a nice relaxing game. He hopes, too, to get in a little horseback riding, tennis, fishing, and perhaps some target shooting when the weather is just right.

NEW to St. Louis opera-goers, Evans will be remembered by radio fans as the chap who was singled out of 50,000 contestants for the gold medal and $5000 prize offered in the first national radio audition contest staged by the Atwater Kent Foundation. At the time, Wilbur was an unknown voice student at the Curtis Institute in Philadelphia, with none too much hope of ever reaching the concert stage. Singing Fletch's "Le Cor" before the final judges, who included Louise Homer and Reinold Werrenath, Wilbur surprised himself by walking off with first prize and overnight found himself in demand for concerts, radio and opera.

In 1927, when Wilbur carried off the Atwater Kent award, he already had spent several summers as athletic instructor and coach in various boys' camps, an avocation at which he was so successful that for a time he considered making it his profession if a singing career failed.

With his singing career now assured, he has adopted the Marine Corps Reserve as his hobby and two weeks out of every summer he spends in encampment with Company C, Sixth Battalion of the "Devil Dogs" at Quantico, Va., or Sea Girt, N. J.

"If I weren't a singer, I'd rather be a Colonel in the Marine Corps than anything else in the world," Wilbur insisted as he explained how he depends on his military duties to help keep himself in the proper physical condition for singing. Besides a lot of exercising to keep his waistline in hand, Wilbur also watches his diet. He eats little breakfast, no lunch and for dinner usually has a steak or roast beef, vegetables and fruit.

"I have a weakness for spaghetti, though," he confessed. "I can't have too much of it on my singer's diet, but when I do indulge in spaghetti, I like it piled high on my plate and treated with my own special sauce."

If you'd like to try the Wilbur Evans special spaghetti sauce, here's the recipe: For one pound of spaghetti, melt one-fourth pound of butter, add two finely chopped onions which have been browned.

Pour this over the spaghetti and sprinkle with ground mint leaves (The same mint used for mint juleps).

If you have no objections to garlic, Mr. Evans strongly advises adding a little garlic to the onions as you brown them in the melted butter.

Another dish which Baritone Evans conceals when he's in the mood to humor his appetite is clam hash. He has his own recipe, and the results, he boasts, are "poetic." For Wilbur Evans' clam hash, you mix a dozen clams, chop up two boiled potatoes, two onions and three stalks of crisp celery, mix them all together and moisten with a little clam juice. You then add a pinch of sweet marjoram and fry the hash in a buttered shallow skillet until your hash is a golden brown.

In "Louie the Fourteenth," the ladies of the audience will have an opportunity to see Evans at his best—in a uniform. Music lovers will rave about such things as the range of his voice, his interpretative gifts and musical phrasing, but we gaze upon his heroes hand some will find in Wilbur a convincing Romeo, built like Clark Gable and equipped with the manners of a Menjou. "Dashing" is the word that appears in nearly all the press notices describing the 30-year-old "Devil Dog" at Quantico, Va., or Sea Girt, N. J.

As one notice reads, "Wilbur Evans is one of those rare singers who not only sound well, but look well, and the women in the audience enjoy watching him as fully as the bald-headed row ordinarily enjoys the ladies of the ensemble."

They're making a six-car trailer in portable bungalows.

This was the idea of the older brother. Now the nephew is a slicker. He says, "Why not add a mail car and get a subsidy from the Government?"

The nephew is giving us some pretty good information for the benefit of trailers. He says, "The bridge at Glucken's Run is out. The ferry is in."

"We got a trailer that would cross the Atlantic if we were sure of sand bottom all the way."

"Five Corners is encouraging trailers not to stop. The traffic cop at Beetlesburg has swallowed his whistle. You can go as fast as you want."

"When a train stops, the brakeman goes back a mile and puts torpedoes on the track. That's a waste of energy. We put walnuts flanking the windows at one end and the door at the other. And for each boy a low lift-top chest stool on the wing—one on either side of the chests of drawers—to hold toys and tools and to provide extra seats.

Miscellaneous Problems of Social Usage

When Uncertain of the Arrival of Gift Sent—Family Introductions.

By Emily Post

Dear Mrs. Post: I sent a beautiful handmade dress to a new baby more than several months ago and have not had any word of acknowledgment. Will you tell me what I can do to find out?

Answer: A dress is every bit as suitable a present as a sack or bonnet or any other item, and in no case do I think it possible that their reaction could have been the one you imagine. But it would certainly be in order to write a note saying that, being afraid the dress was lost, you would like them to know you had sent a present to the baby.

Dear Mrs. Post: A neighbor is giving a big afternoon tea. She has sent many invitations and talks to me every day of the arrangements of the people expected, but she has never actually invited me. I believe she expects me, but I don't see how I can take her invitation for granted, nor do I want to stay away and perhaps cause friction between us. If I mention it to her, and she says she intended to include me, she might feel embarrassed, and would have no other way but to tell me to come. So I do not know what to do.

Answer: Surely you must have many friends who are going. Couldn't you ask one whom you know very well to ask Mrs. Neighbor whether you are expected? If she says "Of course," then she can tell Mrs. Neighbor that she happens to know you think you are not invited.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widower and believe that I have found the lady who could creditably take my wife's place in our family, provided, of course, she is willing to I met her when we were both traveling in the same party abroad. She lives in a distant city where I have several "married children. I would like them to meet her and yet I do not intend to visit in that city until fall. Is there some way they could all meet before it is possible for me to be present? Because I want to know that my intentions are pleasing to all.

Answer: I think probably the best arrangement would be to write to your children and tell them that you have met some one whom you are inclined to care for very much. Tell them that you have asked her to invite them to go to see her, and therefore when the telephones or writes them that you particularly want them to make an effort to meet her. Meanwhile, of course, write to her and tell her that the children would like to meet her and ask her if she will write and say a day and hour when it will be convenient.

Oh take your golf balls and your clubs;
The Great God Golf now lusts for dubs!

Fanatic lover of the sport,
Go, join the dimwits of his court!
In spiked brogues and slacks be-dight
The vestments of the acolyte—
You bend the knee before his shrine
With burning zeal that once was mine.

Upon a caddy hang your sticks;
Perform your antics, do your tricks—
The follow-through, approach and stance
That mark the ceremonial dance.
The hooks and slices in the rough,
The water hazards are enough
To try a sane man—though, it's true,
That doesn't now apply to you.

Desert your home and leave your wife,
Neglect your work and wreck your life,
To prance upon the sacred green
And from the nineteenth hole earn
From tee to tee, from dawn to dark,
You take a swing, you make a mark.
And leave upon the altar grassy
Ten missing balls, a splintered brassie.

I am a young man about to graduate from law school. I am anxious to know if you know of an opening for a young lawyer in your community, and would you be kind enough to tell me how many ambulance calls there are a day in your community.

—Abner B. Skidwell.
Answer—I don't know how many ambulance calls there are a day. Mr. Skidwell, but there certainly is a good opening for a lawyer. I noticed it from the bus when I was coming to work this morning. It's an uncovered manhole right down town at the most prominent intersection.

Hartley, Who Had Heard Another Voice
When Carol Phoned, Goes to Her Room—Duke Hides Under the Bed.

CHAPTER NINETEEN.

THEY had not foreseen this—that was in the long horrified look Duke and Carol exchanged. There was more—he would know she could not be asleep so soon after speaking to him. She could not refuse to go to the door. But when she did—

"Won't you slip into something, dear," Hartley continued, in a low eager voice. "I can't go without seeing you for a moment."
That was true, but he did not say why he had felt he must come to her room. He had heard, he was sure, another voice in the room, when Carol phoned him. She had denied anyone was with her, but her denial had not downed his doubt.

He had been afraid at first that some one might have broken in—kidnaping, blackmailing, robbing were possibilities. But she had spoken so naturally that he began to fear something else. He couldn't believe that Carol was deceiving him. He couldn't—but he had to make sure there was nothing in that horrid suspicion. "Yes, just a minute, dear," she cried.

Hartley's fears and doubts vanished. It was Carol's voice, normal and happy, which he heard. "If he catches me here—," whispered Duke, "I lose him for life."

Those words made something click in Carol's all-but-paralyzed brain. If he had given a hint of sympathy for her plight, one word of remorse for the trouble he was causing her, the possible scandal, the wrecking of her marriage, she would have been sorry for him. But to think only of his failure at playing Madison for a "sucker" and out beyond all decency. She started toward the door.

"What are you doing?" Duke whispered hoarsely. "Are you crazy?"
"On the contrary," she whispered back. "It is the only way. I shall tell him you forced your way in here."

"You wouldn't?" he gasped. But his face told her she had won. "Hurry, dear," Madison said. "I haven't much time, you know."
"Coming right away, dear," Carol said. Then through her teeth to Duke who was holding her, in his terror, by her negligee: "Let me go, at once, or I'll scream."

He let her go. He looked wildly around the room for a place to hide. His eye had traveled to the bed. "Explain this away," he said making a dash for the bed. He flicked up the long overhanging covers and crawled underneath. She thought she was going to faint, but she knew she couldn't. She forced herself to walk to the door and opened it hesitatingly.

"Sorry to keep you waiting, dear," she said, "but I'd gone back to bed and I couldn't find my slippers—they were way under the bed. I have a bad habit of kicking them."

She had opened the door only a tiny crack and was speaking in a low tone.
"And now, dear, I can't let you he? She followed the direction of his scowl.

There on the table beside her, resting on the dainty crystal ash tray, sending up a thin, wavering line of blue-gray smoke, was Duke's cigar! For one awful year-long moment, during which she was sure she heard Duke's groans under the bed, she looked at it. Then she did the one thing she could do. She reached over, picked it up casually, settled back among the cushions and inhaled a long puff.

"You thought what, darling?" she asked smiling up at him. Then gritted her teeth. This thing was so loathsome. Through her mind flashed stories of the horrors of "first smokers." Perhaps it might kill her—it seemed at the moment quite possible. But she took another puff.

Madison's eyes were still wide and still fixed on her. It was a moment or two before he could speak. "When did you—when did—" "When did I what?" she asked, putting down the cigar with a relief she had never known before. "Learn to smoke cigars?" He asked in a voice which would suggest he was strangled.

"Oh, I just picked it up," she said. "Why?"
"I don't know—anything you do is all right—but I wonder—do you care for them much?"

"I'll never touch another cigar in all my life, if you don't want me to," she said. "Of course, I never have smoked except in my own room, and only a few puffs. Perhaps it was my excitement over waking just in time to speak to you—I don't know—but somehow, I felt I had to smoke this cigar."
"All right, dear," he said. "I don't want to be dictatorial—but a girl so young and beautiful and attractive as you, has to be a little careful. I know of course you weren't to blame for that photograph when you had never known before nervous breakdown, so—"

She reached out her hand and laid it gently on his lips. "Shall we forget all about it, dear? And I promise, cross-my-heart, I'll never smoke another cigar as long as I live."
"I'll be glad when you're away from the environment of the race-tracks," said Madison.

"You won't be half so glad as I will, darling," she said. "He took her in his arms and pressed his lips to her in a long kiss. She drew away hurriedly, pointing to the door.
"It's so hard to leave you," he said, "that if you only half-way hinted you'd like me to stay, I couldn't resist."

AT those words, an arm shot suddenly from under the bed and tugged at Carol's skirt. She wanted to give the arm a vicious kick, but she must wait until later to get even with Duke for all the discomfort he had brought down upon her.

"I'm not going to ask or hint, darling," she said. "I know you should go—and I must be brave." The hand dug into her ankle, then, and Carol, angry enough to risk everything, kicked it with her other foot. Madison had seen nothing—he was too intent looking into Carol's eyes.
"All right, little slave-driver," he said. "I am not resigned. But I go."

"You'll have to hurry, I'm afraid," said Carol. "Take good care of yourself—and phone me as soon as you get to New York, won't you?"
"My phone bill is going to dizzy heights until you come home," he said.
She arose, put her arm through

Commentary On Matters Of Daily Life

By The Rev. J. F. Newton

OFTEN enough when we give someone a piece of our mind we find that we have no peace of mind left.

There are two kinds of religious people—those who are made better by religion and those who are made worse. The modern generation, said Canon Mackay, wants to ring God up on the telephone but it does not know His number.

There is all the difference between an eager man who wants to read a book and a tired man who wants a book to read. Democracy is the faith that the people as a whole will, in the long run, see the truth, accept it and serve it.

If you would master life, take everything in it seriously, if you will, never yourself—that is utterly fatal. Edward Hale made a motto: "Look up, not down; look forward, not backward; look out, not in; and lend a hand."

New friends are like new wine—they should be kept in a cool place till they have matured and mellowed. It is cheaper, said Chesterton, to sit in a meadow and see motors go by than to sit in a motor and see meadows go by.

It is hard to tell when we make our worst mistakes—when we are afraid or afraid of being afraid. "His duty is to love that life may go on living," wrote Eugene O'Neill; for when love is dead life is over and done.

Stability is taking care of a stable. "I wrote a school boy, and 'A Kaiser is a stream of hot water always jumping up.' We are all, even the strongest of us, victims of our fellows; they influence us far more than we ever admit."

"I did it, why should I celebrate it?" said Lindbergh; which is better celebrating what someone else did. Faith is not heroic until it seems foolish; hope is not a virtue until everything looks utterly hopeless. (Copyright, 1937.)

Popular Pumps
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK.—Opera pumps have gained popularity with the racing season. They give added comfort in walking on sandy soil, and so have preference over open-toed sandals. Plain, unornamented pumps in navy, black and London tan are the favorites.

Contributor.
If you are a steady contributor to "cake sales" at the church you would be wise to invest in a dozen paper plates and use these upon which to send your contribution. Then you will not have to worry about a good plate not being returned.

BURNING FEET
Kill the Pain, Agony, Soreness and Aching To-night
"Oil your feet," ordered Napoleon to his soldiers before a battle or a long march—he was a clever man. Sore, aching, burning feet cause more misery—more distress—more bad temper and cursing than any other human ailment.
Overnight you can take out the sting—the soreness—the burning and aching from your poor, distressed feet by giving them a good rubbing with penetrating, medicated OMEGA OIL.
So don't worry—"Oil your feet" with Omega Oil, walk briskly and joyfully to work tomorrow—3c.

By the Associated Press.
HENDAYE, French-Spanish
Frontier, June 28.—Generalissimo
Franco's northern army, sweeping westward from Bilbao to Santander, reached Valmaseda today.

The insurgent forces came within rifle shot of the road and railroad junction of the town, about 14 miles southwest of Bilbao, and about 12 miles inland from the Bay of Biscay. The advance put the rebel army about one-third of the way to Santander, which is 45 miles from Bilbao. Valmaseda is one of the most important Basque towns still in Government hands.

Insurgent communiques reported a constant flow of Government deserters to their ranks.

Government reports from Madrid said Loyalist soldiers captured Coo-vo Hill and two other peaks between the Bilbao-Santander highway and Valmaseda, just west of the fallen Basque capital.

German-Made Seaplanes Shoot Down Loyalist Patrol Ship.
By the Associated Press.
VALENCIA, June 28.—German-made seaplanes attacked a Spanish Government coast patrol plane off
Cape Palos, 18 miles from Cartagena, in the Mediterranean, yesterday. The planes engaged in a bitter fight, and the Government craft was set afire with one of its crew killed, the Defense Ministry announced.

The Defense Ministry said:
"At mid-day a Dornier plane from Alcazarez, engaged in coast service, was attacked northwest of Cape Palos by a bi-motor German seaplane with which it entered into combat. During the fight the Loyalist (Government) Dornier was set afire. The British ship Nadesa Manor rescued four crew members of the Loyalist plane and took them to Cartagena, where they entered a hospital. One was dead on arrival at the hospital. Another, whose injuries are as yet undetermined, remained in hospital. Two others, with slight wounds, were removed to Alcazarez."

"The chief of the airforce Minister was instructed by the Defense Minister to visit the Captain of the British vessel and thank him in the name of the Government for his generous aid."

Rebels and Loyalists Reinforcing Lines in Madrid Sector.

By the Associated Press.
MADRID, June 28.—Concentrations of insurgent troops on the fronts south and west of Madrid and in the North Central Guadalajara sector were reported today to be continuing in great numbers.
Government troops were being rushed to strategic points to counteract the rebel maneuvers.

Insurgent reinforcements also moved into the region north of Guadalajara, northeast of Madrid, where the rebels were defeated in an earlier campaign.

Madrid commanders did not expect an insurgent general attack before operations have been completed in Northern Spain. Government circles hoped the reorganized northern army could crush the insurgents in the valleys of Santander Province.

FINED FOR KICKING MONKEY Organ Grinder Penalized on Charge of Cruelty.

John Delotta, an organ grinder, was fined $25 in Police Court today for cruelty to Fanny, a monkey who picks up coins tossed to the pavement by appreciative listeners.

Delotta denied that he had—as an agent for the Humane Society testified—kicked Fanny, but admitted that he had "pushed her with the bottom of his foot" because she was slow in gathering up the money. He was arrested last Monday at Clara and Easton avenues. Delotta lives at 221 South Third street.
